Investigation Into the Burning of the Steamer City of Waco.

Mrs. Moulton vs. Plymouth Church

STILL ANOTHER OCEAN DISASTER.

Fifteen Persons Find a Watery Grave.

NEW YORK, November 14, 1875.

No Mercy for a Murderer.

Judge Barrett has denied the motion for a stay of proceedings in the case of John Clark, sentenced to be hanged for the killing of an officer in Rochester.

The City of Waco Disaster.

The Local Board of Steamboat Inspectors have begun an investigation into the burning of the steamer City of Waco. Richard J. Holmes, who stowed the cargo, stated that 300 cases of refined petroleum were upon the upper deck, aft and forward, and distant 100 feet from any fire, and that other freight of an inflammable nature was on board.

The Religious Revival.

At the Moody and Sankey meeting this morning, the lower part of the Brooklyn Tabernacle was filled, but there were many empty benches in the gallery. Deacon Hawley read twenty-one requests for prayers for churches, seventy from mothers for children, thirty from sisters for brothers, and a large number from backsliders. Mr. Lansing offered a prayer.

We will have, said Mr. Moody, for our subject this evening, "Praise," and read the 146th and 147th Psalms. After a few homilies he offered a prayer, and the congregation sang, "Oh, happy day." The meeting was now open for general prayer and speaking, and many availed themselves of the opportunity.

The churches in South Brooklyn are making arrangements for union prayer meetings every morning at 7:30, to begin on Monday next.

The last week of Moody and Sankey's ministrations was ushered in to-night at the Rink by another audience. On account of a ticketed audience, the usual rush and crush at the doors were not perceptible. Among the clergymen on the platform was Bishop Foster, of the M. E. Church. Mr. Moody opened the meeting with prayer, and after glancing around he appeared to notice with satisfaction the different characters of the audience before him, and gave out the seventeenth hymn, "Knocking, knocking, who is there?" which was sung by Mr. Sankey. Luke xiv, 16-24, was then read by the preacher, after which he offered a prayer, the burden of which was that this last week should prove a penticostal feast to the unconverted. The Hymn "Yet there is room" was sung by Mr. Sankey, the choir joining in on the last line—"Room, room, still room; oh enter, enter now."

Mr. Moody then said: I want to call your attention this evening to just one clause in that parable I have read: "I pray thee have me excused." Did you ever stop to think what would take place in a city like Brooklyn if God would say "I will just take all that want to be excused with one stroke away from this world." I am sure if that would take place I should have a very slim attendance to-morrow night. They all with one consent began to make excuses; and they have kept it up very well since then for the last 1,800 years. They have not been invited to the Rink to hear a stammerer preacher, to go into some hospital where they might contract diseases, but they are invited to a feast. It is not every day that people like we are invited to a royal feast, but to-night we are. The King invites us. God wants every man, woman, and child to come; that scoffer down there as well as anybody else. "Go into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in," and God does not mock us. He don't invite us without giving us power to come. You can come if you will. If I should begin here to-night to ask you why you don't come, you would all begin to have excuses, and if you didn't have them, Satan would be at your elbow suggesting them. What I will say to you briefly is that you can take all of your excuses and put them in a bundle, [illegible] just mark them "lies." That is plain English, but is just what I mean—downright lies. The excuses of these men are downright lies. Better to say honestly, as a women said to me last week, "I have no desire to be a Christian. I don't want you to talk to me." They all began to make excuses. Mark that word "make." They did not have them, as they began to manufacture excuses. A great many of you are rocking yourselves to sleep on that cradle. I pray God that the cradle will be upset and you all turn out to-night. You laugh at the excuses of these men, but have you better ones? I honestly think that the excuses now adays are worse than theirs were.

The meeting was dismissed with singing and the benediction.

Mrs. Moulton vs. Plymouth Church.

Rev. Dr. Buddington said to-day to a Brooklyn reporter that he thought Mrs. Moulton was justified in calling for a Congregational Council to settle the difficulties between herself and Plymouth church, and he believed such a council would be called. Of course it will be ex parte, as Plymouth church will refuse to join in the call. Dr. Buddington also expressed his belief that Plymouth church had forfeited the right of fellowship by its recent course, and he could not see how the churches which joined in the previous call could adopt any other course than to refuse it fellowship.

Billiard Tournament.

The National Fall Billiard Tournament at three ball carom was commenced to-night at Tammany Hall by the two Dions. There are twenty-one games to be played of three hundred points each, and four prizes are offered, as follows: First prize, $1,500; second, $1,000; third, $650, and, fourth, $350. The winner of the tournament also receives a handsome gold medal. The game was won in the thirtieth inning by Cyrile Dion, Joe scoring 235. Cyrile's highest run was 41, and Joe's 22.

The second game, between Maurice Daley and Rudolph, was won by Daley in the twenty-fifth inning. Rudolph's score was 125. Daley's highest run was 124 and Rudolph's 32.

Still Another Ocean Disaster'

The ship Ravenscrag arrived to-night. She reports that on October 26, in latitude 46 28, longitude 35 26, she took fourteen men from the brig Morue, from St. Pierre, N. F., for San Salven, France, which had capsized the day before. The Morue had seventeen passengers, and a crew of twelve. On the 25th she was struck by a gale, which suddenly swept everything from the deck and lost the boats. Thirteen of the passengers and two of the crew were lost.

Death of an Actor.

George Belmore, the English actor, died this morning. Mrs. Belmore and seven children are in London, and to them will be left two or three thousand pounds. They will also receive a large sum from the Drury Lane Dramatic Association. Mr. Belmore made his will yesterday morning, and named for his administrator Mr. Montague for this country and J. L. Toole for England. He requested that his body be taken to England.

B. & O. RAILROAD.

Meeting of Stockholders—Annual Report—Decrease in the Revenues as Compared with 1874.

BALTIMORE, November 15.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad took place to-day. The annuall report shows the total revenues for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1875, to have been $4,426,552, a decrease compared with 1874 of $520,538; net earnings, $4,490,008; surplus fund $34,023,566, which exceeds the entire mortgage indebtedness of the Company by $5,307,232. The report shows a steady and continued annual expansion of tonnage of through merchandise East and West. The passenger earnings exhibit an increase of $94,774.

The report says it is believed that the enormous losses thrown upon the roadways of the country by the assaults upon the Baltimore & Ohio Company will cause a wiser policy to be generally adopted and maintained in the future. Such extreme irregularities and rates so unremunerative as were needlessly made have imperiled such vast interests, and injured seriously so much railway property that the lessons of the past year should not fail to secure hereafter a judicious and conservative policy.

The following gentlemen were elected directors on the part of the stockholders: Galloway Cheston, Samuel W. Smith, Francis Burns, John Spear Nicholas, John Gregg, Francis T. King, C. Oliver O'Donnell, James Harvey, Wm. W. Taylor, Samuel Kirby, John King, Jr., and G. Vonlinger.

Decision in the Westerville (Ohio) Liquor Case.

COLUMBUS, November 15.—In the Court of Common Pleas to-day Judge Kingham decided the case of Henry H. Corbin, the well known saloon keeper of Westerville, vs. the town of Westerville. The suit came up on error from the Mayor's Court, the Mayor having held the village ordinance relative to the sale of beer legal. The Common Pleas reversed the judgment of the Mayor's Court, with costs. The case was decided upon the authority of Thompson vs. the city of Canton (eleventh Ohio State report), that the State law provides that a Village Council cannot by ordinance prohibit the sale of beer.

The Blennerhassett Family.

Letter from Theresa M. Blennerhassett.

Some Inaccuracies Corrected—The Jury Who Acquitted Aaron Burr—Closing Days of the Wife of Harmon Blennerhassett.

Mrs. Theresa M. Blennerhassett in a letter from St. Louis to the Cincinnati Commercial, says:

In last Saturday's issue of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat appeared an article copied from your paper giving a sketch of Dr. David Creel as the "only remaining man of the twelve who acquitted Aaron Burr of treason against the United States." Having known the gentleman by reputation for some years, and feeling an interest in the matter, I immediately turned to my "Robertson's report of the trial of Aaron Burr for treason against the United States (a rare old book, by the way, published in 1808, in Philadelphia, by Hopkins & Earle), held in Richmond, Virginia, in the Summer Term of 1807." After diligent search I found the list of those summoned for examination as jurors, David Creel's name being among the twelve called from Wood county, Virginia. With one or two exceptions they were all found incompetent to serve. "David Creel had formed an opinion from the statements in the newspapers, and if they were true, the prisoner was certainly guilty. He had expressed a belief that he was guilty of the charges now brought against him, and that he ought to be hanged. He was therefore rejected." How the old gentleman can claim to be one of the jury who acquitted Burr is more than I am able to understand. Monday, August 17, 1807, the Court met, and the following is a complete list of the jury who tried and acquitted Burr of treason: Edward Conington, David Lambert, Richard E. Parker, Hugh Mercer, Christopher Anthony, Jos. Sheppard, Reuben Blakey, Benjamin Graves, Miles Bott, Henry E. Coleman, John M. Sheppard, Richard Curd.

The same article in your paper has reference to the closing days of the wife of Harmon Blennerhassett. It is stated that "Mrs. Blennerhassett died poor and lonely in the care of some kindly Sisters of Charity in New York, and none but those angels of mercy followed her to the grave." This is a mistake. Mrs Blennerhassett, after her husband's death, returned to New York, and though her circumstances were much altered, she never knew want. She rented a house on her arrival in New York, which, with her eldest living son, Harmon, and a faithful attached negro servant, she occupied until her death. Her son and this woman (besides a few warmly attached friends) were with her when she died. She was buried in the vault of the Emmett family according to the rites of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which she was a member. Sisters of Charity did not follow her to the grave, but personal friends, who, appreciating her many noble qualities, remained true to her through all the changes that befell her. These inaccuracies are in keeping with some to be found in Parton's Life of Burr. Mr. Parton says: "Burr has been falsely accused of financially ruining Harmon Blennerhassett, but his own 'indolence,' and not Burr, worked his ruin." If this were true, it is a question whether an author's privileges entitle him to indulge in such strong personal criticism, especially when his opinion be derived, not from actual acknowledge, but from hearsay, or copied from others no better informed than himself on the subject. It is a fact well known that Burr did financially ruin Harmon Blennerhassett. The latter should have been too keen to fall into the trap set for him, but he was not, and so became a prey to the fascinating tongue of Burr, thereby sacrificing a handsome fortune, and reducing himself and family to a condition only above want. The best proof of Harmon Blennerhassett's means is found in Burr's having sought him at his (Blennerhassett's) home. Had the latter's fortune been moderate Burr would not have made the acquaintance. The condition of his own finances, as well as his plans, did not admit of his wasting time on any one not possessed of a large fortune. Mr. Parton inserts extracts to show that amiable feelings existed between Burr and Blennerhassett, and that the latter addressed Burr only on financial questions to the extent of each bearing his proportion of the expenses of the expedition, as far as it went. All the money used by Burr in this matter came from Blennerhassett. Blennerhassett addressed him, not as to his proportion of the expenses, but to try and recover even some of the large amount he had from time to time advanced. Burr paid nothing; he had nothing with which to pay, and so his answers were promises alone. Harmon Blennerhassett was never noted for being an "indolent" man. On the contrary he was known for his active mind, and energy of character. Mr. Parton says: "Harmon Blennerhassett's home was not destroyed by an organized band, but by marauders taking advantage of the absence of its owner." This is not true. The Wood county militia destroyed nearly all the personal property at the island, besides defacing the house. Had Mrs. Blennerhassett lived even a short time longer there is little doubt that her petition before Congress, presented and eloquently advocated by Henry Clay, would have succeeded in gaining indemnity.

The "plantation" Mr. Parton speaks, of purchased by Harmon Blennerhassett after the destruction of his property on the island, was "managed" by Mrs. Blannerhassett only in the absence of her husband.

MRS. THERESA M. BLENNERHASSLETT.

GUIBORD'S BODY.

The Funeral to Take Place To-day—Military Preparations to Suppress Riot.

MONTREAL, November 15.—To-day Mr. Doutre went to the proprietors of the evening papers and obtained a promise from them not to publish anything to-day relating to the preparations for Guibord's funeral, which takes place to-morrow at noon. Mr. Doutre fears that if the preparations are published beforehand the rioters will take steps to harass the procession and cause bloodshed. Doutre this forenoon formally entered a writ in the Supreme Court calling on any one of the Judges of the Superior Court to issue an order for the funeral. It has been decided not to use a sarcophagus, and the body will be buried in a wooden coffin. The Commissioner of the Dominion Police has ordered out military to the number of 965 men. All this force will be required, as some 5,000 people are expected in the cemetery, and though the troops have received orders to keep all persons out of the grounds who have no business inside, the order can only be a dead letter. All members of the Institute Canadien will go up heavily armed. The feeling of the people is anxious and uneasy. No notice was taken of the matter in any of the Roman Catholic churches yesterday.

THE BLACK HILLS.

Report of the Commissioners to Treat With the Indians for the New Gold Fields.

CHICAGO, November 15.—The commissioners who recently attempted to effect a treaty with the Indians for the Black Hills country met here to-day. During the afternoon and evening a report was made out and agreed upon. It will be forwarded to Washington to-morrow. The commissioners decline to make public its contents, but it is understood that it contains a full statement of the relations of the Government to the Sioux tribe, and recommends important and radical changes in the treatment of these Indians.

500 Miles Walking Match.

CHICAGO, November 15.—O'Leary and Weston, who commenced their walking match of five hundred miles shortly after twelve o'clock last night, walked steadily during the night and morning. At twelve o'clock O'Leary had made nearly sixty-two miles, being then about two miles ahead of his competitor.

At 11:30 to-night O'Leary had completed his one hundred and tenth mile. Weston, who had been resting for some hours, had accomplished only about ninety miles.

The St. Louis Whisky Frauds.

ST. LOUIS, November 15.—The case of Gen. Jno. McDonald, ex-Supervisor of Internal Revenue of this district, was called in the United States District Court to-day. His counsel endeavored to have the case laid over a few days until certain papers could be received from Washington, but Judge Treat declined to grant the request, and the jury was impannelled, and the prosecution opened with a statement of the case.

The Secretary also gives notice that the following bonds of 1864 and 1865 for account of the sinking fund will be paid on and after February 15, 1876, and interest will cease on that day:

Bonds of acts of June 30, 1864, and March 3d, 1865, as follows: Act of June 30, 1864. Registered bonds—$50, No. 526 to No. 532, both inclusive; $100, No. 3,551 to 3,662, both inclusive; $500, No. 2,151 to 2,201, both inclusive; $1,000, No. 10,969 to 11,219, both inclusive; $5,000, No. 3,825 to 3,876, both inclusive; $10,000, No. 10,151 to 10,484, both inclusive—$3,024,600.

Of the amount outstanding embraced in the numbers above, $1,475,400 are coupon bonds, and $3,524,600 are registered bonds.

The bonds embraced in this call will be paid at any time previous to their maturity upon presentation, with interest to date of such payment, at the Treasury of the United States, in Washington, or at the office of the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at New York.

Taxes on Banks.

The following report of taxation upon capital, deposits and circulation of banks and bankers appears as a supplement to the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue:

Since the organization of National banks the amount realized from these sources to the close of the last fiscal year was $64,989,374; amount realized during the last fiscal year, $7,270,758; amount paid by National banks on deposits alone during the period of their existence up to June 30th, 1875, $30,018,028; amount paid during the last fiscal year, $3,427,576.

The Commissioner calls attention to the exemption on deposits in savings banks. He says by the existing law, deposits made by any one person are not liable to a tax unless they exceed $2,000. If, says the Commissioner, deposits in these so-called saving institutions are thought a proper subject for exemption from taxation, where they are employed with such profitable results, it were better to return to the rule adopted by Congress in 1866, where deposits made by any one person in excess of $500 were subject to taxation.

The Cotton Crop.

The official cotton crop report for November makes a direct comparison of the product this year with that of 1874. As former reports of condition have indicated, the States bordering on the Atlantic all show a reduced product, and those in the Mississippi valley an increased yield. The effect of the great September storm in Southern Texas proves less disastrous than was at first represented. The amount of lint in comparison with the weight of seed cotton is quite variable, ranging from 25 to 33 per cent., but so far as reported appears to be less than in 1874. The State percentages, representing the aggregate quantity as compared with last year are as follows: North Carolina, 91; South Caroline, 76; Georgia 74; Florida, 90; Alabama, 102; Mississippi, 111; Louisiana, 100; Texas, 114; Arkansas, 135; Tennessee, 116. The crop of Arkansas is a good one, but the figures are increased more by the fact of last year's poor yield than by the excess of this year's crop. These figures point to a small advance upon last year's aggregate if November and December should be favorable to opening and picking of the top crop.

A Vacant Office.

Another vacancy was created in the Interior Department lately by the resignation of Joseph Lockey, of Minnesota, Deputy Commissioner of Pensions, to take effect on December 15th, with leave of absence until that date. The office will be filled by Presidential appointment after Congress assembles.

Deficiency in the Customs Service.

The appropriations for the collection of customs being deficient some six hundred thousand dollars, the Secretary of the Treasury will soon issue an order reducing the number of employes in the custom houses.

MEXICAN OUTRAGES.

American Rancheros in Texas Ordered to Leave Their Homes by Mexican Marauders—Assassinations and Incendiarism—General Insecurity of Life and Property.

BROWNSVILLE, November 15.—The Federal Grand Jury, in their report, say that from Brownsville to Pecas river, a distance of six hundred miles in length and one hundred in width, to the Nueces river, all American rancheros have been ordered to leave their homes by Mexican raiders on pain of death, and that 100,000 head of stolen cattle are driven to Mexico annually by Mexican marauders. Numbers of Federal officials have been assassinated, post-offices burned, custom houses robbed, mail carriers and inspectors of customs killed while in the discharge of their duties, and the perpetrators of these crimes have gone unpunished, and general insecurity of life and property prevails on the border. The jury found eighty indictments, and urge decisive action on the part of the State and General Governments to punish the criminals and protect the inhabitants against Mexican banditti.

A Contested Mayoralty.

ST. LOUIS, November 15.—The City Council met to-night and organized as a court, to try and determine the contest of Henry Overstoltz versus Joseph Button, for the office of Mayor. An opinion of City Counsellor Bell was read, to the effect that the Council had no jurisdiction in the case, and that having installed Mr. Button last spring, they could take no further action in the matter. Notwithstanding this opinion, the Council decided to hear testimony, perfected preliminary arrangements, and adjourned until Wednesday.

Bank Suspension.

UTICA, N. Y., November 15.—Burke & Kelly, bankers at Little Falls, suspended yesterday and made an assignment to J. W. Cronhite, of that village. Their liabilities are about $100,000. Burke's Bank of Utica, indirectly connected with this firm, will be obliged to suspend for a few days.

Rowing Match.

LONDON, November 15.—A rowing match for £200 a side and the championship of the Thames took place to-day between Joseph H. Sadler, holder of the championship, and R. W. Boyd, of Gateshead, Durham. The course was from Putney to Mortlake, about four miles and a quarter. The race was won by Sadler, who announced before the race that, whether defeated or victorious, he would never go into training again.

The Recent Mutiny.

The particulars of the mutiny on the ship Lennie show that a bottle containing intelligene of the affair was thrown overboad by Van Hoydonum, the stewart, who with a sailor and the cabin boy endeavored to defend the officers at the risk of their lives.

The Storm.

The British ship Astrida, from this port for the United States, has been lost off Andresselles, near Boulogne. Nine of the crew were drowned. Heavy weather continues, and Lloyds to-day report a number of wrecks. The tide in the Thames this morning was the highest on record.

LONDON, November 16.—The estimated damage done in London and neighborhood by the high tides to-day will reach fully $5,000,000. The Woolwich arsenal grounds are partially submerged.

The Breadstuffs Market.

LONDON, November 15.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British corn market, says: Recent unfavorable weather has much impeded field work, which was already much in arrears. The condition of samples has considerably deteriorated. This, with a continuous heavy foreign supply, has militated against the price of wheat. Several markets have declined a shilling per quarter, while all are more or less dull. At Paris the best wheat, owing to the offers, has advanced one shilling per quarter. Complaints come from the home market as well as from those of Holland, Belgium and Germany of short deliveries, with hardening prices. In Austria the wintery weather and generally short supplies have occasioned a rise in wheat of from one shilling to one shilling and six pence per quarter. Should the present early frosts herald a severe and long winter, we must expect to witness an advance in prices, notwithstanding the present heaviness of the granary stocks.

FRANCE.

Mutineers Arrested.

PARIS, November 15.—The ship Lennie has arrived at Rochefort. All the sailors found on board were arrested.

Disloyal Clergy.

The Progres Du Nord states the clergy of Roubax refused to chant the prayer beginning with the words "Domine Fac Salvam Republicam" on the 7th, as requested in a circular of the Minister of Public Worship.

PARIS, November 15.—The reading of the electoral bill has been fixed for Friday next.

PARIS, November 15.—The Greek sailors who fled from the ship Lennie have been examined at Rochefort. The youngest of them confessed that the officers were murdered in British waters under circumstances of great atrocity.

Assembly Proceedings.

PARIS, November 15.—In the Assembly to-day the debate was upon a motion of M. Delacour for the postponement of the consideration of the municipal law till after the general election. M. Dupratt and other Republicans opposed postponement, and charged the Government with designing to influence the elections through the Mayors, who, under the existing law, are appointed by the Government.

M. Buffet refused to abandon the Mayors, to whom the Government indebted for their devoted services. The elections will be free and straightforward. The Government has a right to make known and support its opinions at the elections.

The party of the Right cheered enthusiastically at these utterances of the Right. The Left, regarding the speech as a defense of the system of official candidates, were greatly irritated. The postponement was then voted by a large majority. The result is considered important and very antagonistic to the Republicans, as the present conservative, irresponsible Mayors will manage the elections.

TURKEY.

Insurgent Victory.

LONDON, November 16—5:30 A. M.—A special to the Times from Cettinge contains the following: A report has been received by the Prince of Montenegro, which states that the engagement near Gatschko between Turks and Herzegovinians resulted in the retreat of Silim Pasha with a Turkish force to Gatschko. Eight hundred to one thousand Turks were killed, and their baggage, ammunition and several cannon captured.

FLORENCE, November 15.—The libel suit of Connelly versus Healy, arising from charges of art frauds contained in letters of the latter to the New York World, was decided to-day. The court, taking into consideration that justification could not be accepted by law as a defence of libel, sentenced Healy to a fortnight's imprisonment and a fine of 1,000 liere, and the manager of the tourist newspaper to eight days' imprisonment and a fine of 500 liere for publishing the libel. Serious Railway Collision.

STOCKHOLM, November 15.—A serious railway collision occurred on the road between Lenkoping and Linakeberg. Six persons were killed and twelve more or less injured.

STEER STOLEN.

The Slaughtered Animal Discovered in a Colored Man's Cellar.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

SALEM, O., November 11, 1875.

A few days ago Mr. Jacob Farquhar, a respectable farmer, living about two miles east of this town, went out in the morning to salt his cattle. One of his steers failed to put in appearance, and claim its ration; search for it was made; and then blood and some of the inward parts of an animal were discovered, which gave evidence that the steer had been slaughtered in the field. A wagon track was also discovered, which indicated a small vehicle of narrow gauge wheels, and one of the latter bent out of shape. The track was followed into town to the residence of a negro named Joseph Venable. There a little wagon was discovered having wheels, which by measurement, corresponded with the track, the felloes of one being broken and fastened together with strap iron, which made a peculiarity of the track that had been observed. Three negroes were seen going from the house, two of them carrying sacks on their shoulders; finding themselves observed, they dropped the sacks and fled. Beef was found in these sacks. The house was then searched and the hide of the steer was discovered in a barrel. Potatoes were put into the barrel over the hide. A considerable amount of beef was also discovered in the cellar, and the boards on which it had been cut up.

Venable and a negro who lived with him were thereupon arrested, and after a hearing before Mayor Dunlap, in default of bail, were committed to jail, to await trial at the next District Court. Certain sons of Joseph Venable are supposed to have been concerned in the affair, but they have thus far escaped arrest.

"YOU see, grandmamma, we perforate an aperture in the apex, and a corresponding aperture in the base, and by applying the egg to the lips and forcibly inhaling the breath, the egg is entirely discharged of its contents." "Bless my soul," cried the old lady, "what wonderful improvements they do make! Now, in my younger days, we just made a hole in both ends and sucked."

The New Railroad Project.

A joint meeting of the Committees on Streets and Railroads, of Allegheny Councils, was held last evening for the purpose of taking some action in regard to the petition of the Pittsburgh and Northwestern Railway Company for the right of way through Allegheny City from Federal street to the western limits of the city. Mr. N. H. Voegtly presided.

Col. T. M. Bayne addressed the meeting in behalf of the petitioners. He proceeded to show the advantages to accrue to Allegheny City by the construction of this railroad. He also explained that this road was to run to Youngstown, Ohio.

John H. Hampton, Esq., Solicitor of the Pennsylvania Company, then addressed the meeting against the granting of the petition. He said that the object of this road was to make connection between the Baltimore & Ohio and the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad, and thereby to carry freight direct to Baltimore, to the injury of Philadelphia. He addressed the meeting at some length, and closed by asking that the committees postpone action for a few weeks.

Col. Bayne then addressed the meeting again in answer to some of Mr. Hampton's remarks, and said that money was already deposited for the immediate commencement of the work, and that they could have their trains running within two years. He asked that, as it required a long time under the rules of Councils before the ordinance could be passed, immediate action be taken in the matter.

Mr. Hampton again addressed the committee and asked that action be postponed on the matter for two or three weeks.

On motion of Mr. Wilson all who were not members of the committee, or reporters, were requested to retire.

The room being cleared, Mr. Heagy moved, to bring the matter up, that the right of way requested by the railroad company be granted.

Mr. Patterson moved to amend by agreeing to give them the right of way after all preliminary arrangements had been concluded. The amendment was accepted by Mr. Heagy.

Mr. Cochran was opposed to any hasty action in the matter. He wanted the matter fully settled that this was exactly the right place for the railroad, and also that no citizens rights or privileges would be injured. He didn't think the way now asked was exactly the right one, and he was satisfied that before five years the people would also say so. Again he objected to the laying of the road on South avenue, and he was opposed to the road running on the grades of the streets. He was not opposed to the railroad.

Mr. Heagy said that the people on South avenue were not opposed to this road, with but one exception.

After some discussion the previous motions were withdrawn, and Mr. Erwin submitted a resolution asking the railroad company to submit the profile of the grade of the proposed road, profile of the streets they propose crossing, and also that a committee of seven, in connection with the City Engineer and Solicitor, be appointed to examine into this matter, and to report any amendments to the ordinance now before the committee. Adopted, and Messrs. Heagy, Hartman, Patterson, Bedell, Geo. A. Cochran, Erwin, Davis, and Voegtly. The Engineer of the railroad company to meet with this committee. This sub-committee to meet on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at the office of the railroad company, on Federal street.

The Committee then took up the ordinance requesting the P., Ft. W. & C. R. R. to erect gates across the streets where their tracks cross, and also allowing all trains to run at a speed not greater than twenty miles an hour west of Washington avenue, was taken up and amended so as to require the trains to check up to the rate of five miles per hour at a point two hundred feet west of Washington avenue. The ordinance as amended was approved.

Adjourned.

Next.

····The Rev. S. M. Vernon, D. D., will deliver a lecture in the Emory M. E. Church, East Liberty, this evening on "The British Isles." It will be a rich treat for our friends of the East End, and the house will no doubt be crowded by an appreciative audience. Dr. Vernon has just returned from Europe full of enthusiasm, and his lecture will be fresh and clear.

····The regular monthly meeting of the County Temperance Alliance was held yesterday. Reports of meetings were read and approved, among them a report of the organization of an Alliance on the South Side. The committee appointed to investigate the case of the independent candidate, which had been brought before the Alliance by Mrs. Allen, reported that they had consulted with Mrs. Allen and told her that she could enter a charge of misdemeanor, but they did not advise her as yet to take any action. The committee was continued. The report of the Committee on Rules was received, after which the Alliance adjourned.

PERSONAL.

Hon. W. H. Playford, Hon. C. E. Boyle, and Mr. A. D. Boyd, well-known members of the Fayette county bar, witnessed the play of "Griffith Gaunt" last night, and evidently enjoyed the Court scene.

Mr. John Shryock, of the Zanesville Advocate, paid us a brief visit yesterday. He is an old Pittsburgher, but moved to Zanesville, Ohio, some sixteen years since. Mr. Shryock publishes a live paper, and it is quite an authority on financial and other matters. He is looking as young and vigorous as ever, and is enjoying excellent health. Evidently the cares of the world rest lightly upon him, and he is securing a measure of the prosperity his merits deserve.

THE damp, disagreeable weather here is supplemented by destructively stormy weather on the other side of the Atlantic. The rainfalls have caused large volumes of water to accumulate in the rivers, and severe losses have again been sustained. This will be remembered as the stormy year, and will stand as an exception to all rules as regards weather.

THE provincial troubles of Turkey are evidently fully at an end—Prince MILAN having announced that he would not be under the necessity of sending troops to the frontier, owing to the arrangement of peace. This will leave Turkey free to cope with her financial troubles, which are sufficiently great to command all the energies of the best financiers at command.

IT is very evident that a lively fight is in progress over the Attorney-Generalship for this State. It is hardly necessary to name the long list of aspirants, as all but one must fail to secure the coveted honor. From all the outgivings we are led to conclude that our townsman, GEORGE SHIRAS, Jr., will receive the appointment. Governor HARTRANFT realizes the propriety of recognizing the devotion of Allegheny county, by appointing from it a member for his Cabinet. Besides, Mr. SHIRAS is thoroughly competent, and will make a safe, able, and even brilliant Attorney-General.

WE do not presume the President will touch the Catholic question in his message, unless it should come pertinently in with other subjects that may be under discussion. Whether he will or not, it is evident that no one knows anything about it, as the President has not yet begun the writing of the message, and has not given out a statement of the topics to be discussed. It is amusing, therefore, to notice the spasmodic expressions of certain Democratic journals, who imagine that all the secrets of the Democratic-Catholic affiliation are to be laid bare to the public gaze. Restrain your fears, good friends, till the danger appears.

THE walking mania has again started at the East. Of all the stupid things designed for the entertainment of the people, this ranks as the worst. A man walks a narrow circle so often every hour, just as any person would walk the street. The attraction is in the endurance which can keep this up so many continuous hours. What good is there, or what beneficial result can follow such efforts? As money-making enterprises they are latterly failures, and as gambling schemes of too little interest for sports to bet upon. Yet the wretched parties who make of these exhibitions a livelihood keep them up, just as tipplers live, with no object but guzzling, around a hotel bar.

THE net results of railway business in this country, for 1874, show an increase of profit, as compared with 1873. The Manual of Railroads of the United States gives the total amount of capital invested in the railways of this country as $4,221,763,594, including funded and other debts. About 47 per cent., or $1,990,997,486, is ordinary stock, the indebtedness being $2,230,766,108. The gross earnings of all the roads in 1874 were $520,466,016, against $526,419,935 in 1873, a decrease of $5,953,919, or 1.13 per cent. The net earnings in 1874 were $189,570,958, against $183,810,562 in 1873—an increase of $5,760,396, or 3.13 per cent. Of the gross earnings of the year, $379,466,935, or 72.9 per cent., were received from freights, mails and merchandise, and $140,999,081, or 27.1 per cent., from passengers. Not a bad showing, considering the times.

A CURIOUS case, testing the constitutionality of the new postage law, is pending in New York. The point is raised on an application for a mandamus to compel Postmaster JONES, of New York City, to receive for transmission through the mails a package of books, stamped according to the old rates of postage, and it is claimed that the act of last Winter is unconstitutional, because it is a revenue measure, and under the Constitution could only properly originate in the House, while, as passed, it originated in the Senate, is therefore, void, and does not impair the force of the former postal act, which remains operative as though the amendment had not been attempted. The District Attorney evinces a disposition to evade the issue by objecting to the application on the ground that a mandamus is not the proper remedy. The case has been taken under advisement by the Judge, who will render his decision in a few days. If the constitutional objection made be sustained, the effect will be to restore newspaper postage to the old rate, a circumstance that will be particularly grateful to the newspaper reading public.

THE TWEED case, in New York, is beautifully illustrative of the ingenuity of lawyers, in keeping alive an issue that has money in it. With all the windings and turnings, the $6,000,000 suit has not been brought to trial on its direct merits. It is now pending in the Court of Appeals on the motion of TWEED's attorneys to require the people to set forth with particularity each item of fraud charged against him, specifying in what fraud consisted. As TWEED and his Ring carefully destroyed about all the documentary evidence, it is morally impossible to furnish any such specifications; and, if he gains his point in the Court of Appeals, it will probably make an end of all proceedings against him, and he will walk out of Court to enjoy what is left of his plunder after paying his lawyers. It is a significant commentary upon the absurdities of our system of judicial procedure that, despite the efforts of the best counsel, it has as yet proved impossible to get the suit against the boss thief before any Court upon its merits, and that, with all that has been done, it seems little nearer trial than when instituted. In the meantime he lives comfortably in his cell or room in the Toombs, and plaintive suggestions of poverty are put forth in his behalf.

AS THE time for the meeting of Congress draws near, the prospect for a lively row among the unterrified grows more and more encouraging. The Northern Democrats want a share of the best offices, but their Southern confreres declare that as they have a majority of votes, and can beat the others in caucus, they will attend to the distribution of official honors. Of course there is contained in this a strong hint that they will keep to themselves the valuable offices. It has been so long since either party has been in position to enjoy national honors and pap, that there is a very hungry crowd in waiting; and as this is the first chance since the war, it seems doubly hard that the rebels should monopolize all the benefits of regained power. Yet there is a measure of poetic justice, so far as the Northern Democracy is concerned, in this phase of the situation. They sympathized with those very rebels in the days of the war, as against their country. Now, if those rebels should contemptuously push them aside, it need not be considered as more than the return they deserve. They thus get the reward that traitors to the truth usually experience. We shall watch with interest the coming fight, as it will beautifully illustrate the harmony and unselfishness of modern Democracy,—those Reformers of these later times.

THE Post will do wisely to calm its exuberance, as we have done anything but confess that we could not show evidence of collusion between the Catholic Church and Democratic party on the school question. It asked for a specific kind of evidence, which not only did not, but in the nature of things could not, exist. It asked us to point to any Convention of Catholic priests which had passed resolves on the subject. As Catholic priests do not hold Conventions, or pass resolves, this demand, in the nature of things, could not be met. It was asking an impossible kind of proof. This may be shrewd, but it looks very much like an act of desperation. The "Little Nun" bill, passed by the New York Legislature, last Winter, without consultation with the Superintendent of Public Instruction, by which graduates of Catholic schools are entitled to certificates as though they had graduated from the State Normal Schools, is one proof in point. It shows that the Democratic party in New York invested a Catholic school with the prerogative of one grade of the public schools, and this for the sake of monetary advantage to the school. Now, if this can be done, it is not difficult to see that they have only to invest their schools with all the prerogatives of public schools for them to get public moneys. This is the game, and in New York the Democratic party started the entering wedge. Is not this evidence in point?

SANITARY REGULATIONS.

Just what extent of power should be committed to Boards of Health in large cities, has never been definitely determined. In some cities those powers are extensive and arbitrary—involving the use of funds to remedy anything that may be prejudicial to public health. In others mere supervisory and suggestive power is given them—other departments of the city government being charged with the execution of their suggestions. It is probable that the deliberations of the Health Association at Baltimore will result in legislation of a more uniform character, as applied to grants of power to Boards of Health. The tendency of discussion in the Association was toward extending the powers of Health Boards, so that, having discovered the causes of ill-health, they can, if practicable, remove them. We strongly approve of this idea. We have no class of officials among us, who should have larger powers than the Health Board. Great care should be exercised in selecting officials to serve on such Boards, and they should have every necessary power to carry into effect their views, and be held responsible for the proper sanitary condition of the cities committed to their charge.

Particularly in this city should there be changes as regards Sanitary administration. Our Board of Health simply sits quietly in its rooms, receives reports, compiles statistics and passes its time delightfully away, putting forth real energy only when epidemics are at our very doors. Yet our streets are reeking with mud and foul odors, and are in the highest degree unhealthy. Our drainage and sewerage system are unhealthy, and the conditions surrounding us are in the highest degree unfavorable to sound health. It is true our Street Commissioners are charged with the management of streets, but the influence of badly kept streets on public health certainly should be considered by the Health Board. The real question before them is that of putting the city in the best sanitary condition; and this includes a number of items of change that have not, so far as we can learn, been even considered. There are parts of our city which are damp, even in Summer—and these should be drained. We have a large amount of garbage lying, at all seasons, in back lanes and alleys—this should be remedied. In brief, our Board of Health should have power to control the condition of the streets and thoroughfares of the entire city, so far as the public health is concerned. Were this power granted, we could then demand vigorous, effective service from the Board. As it is, it seems like a very respectable body of gentlemen with nothing practical to do. This is the style of things we would like to see changed.

PERSONAL CORRUPTION.

We hear much of official corruption these days, but in view of the revelations made in connection with the St. Louis whisky cases, we may doubt whether the average morality of the general public is at all higher than that of those holding offices under the Government. In St. Louis merchants of high standing, and of moral and religious associations, were discovered to have been directly and criminally involved in the operations of the whisky ring. They were consciously and directly guilty of defrauding the Government and their fellow-men—these frauds involving in their perpetration swindling, falsehood, and other crimes. Had these vicious transactions been aimed against private individuals, we would have a wide reputation given to their enormities. But it has come to be considered that swindles perpetrated against the Government are harmless affairs, hardly worthy of notice, and at the worst merely venial sins. Thus, those who would be shocked at the suggestion of perpetrating fraud on fellow-merchants, seem to have no compunction whatever, over deliberately cheating the Government. We fear this lack of moral sense is not confined to the whisky cases. It is as frequent and palpable in relation to Custom House affairs, particularly in New York. This lack of moral sense, as applied to transactions with the Government, is one of the most deplorable features of the times. It is not confined to office-holders, nor is even so largely represented among office-holders, as among private, and even reputably moral and high-toned merchants.

We do not seek to speculate over the causes of this; but, as a fact, it is worth considering. We have heard of the untrustworthiness of officials, until at last the impression is very general that to enter in Government service is to enter a corrupt atmosphere, which will soon contaminate the moral nature of the official. A measure of suspicion attaches to those in the employ of the Government; yet the crimes committed by the few are the result of temptation, which accident usually puts in their way. But the whisky, smuggling, and other frauds, perpetrated by outsiders, are the result of deliberate schemes, after being expensively arranged, and carried into effect with criminal intent, from the very outset. These are far worse than the crimes usually committed by Government officials. Yet the fact is, such crimes ramify the business relations of those who deal with the Government. The whisky and Custom House frauds recently discovered illustrate the extent to which such operations are carried. We need something that will teach the people that honesty requires fair dealing toward the Government as well as to private parties. For this reason the cases against those who have been guilty of criminal conduct in the cases mentioned should be severely punished, and the lesson inculcated that it is as wrong and as dangerous to swindle the Government as to perpetrate fraud on private parties.

A HIGHWAYMAN'S CAREER.

The Secret That Was Intrusted to a Keen Politician.

A Rival and an Elopement—The Terrors of the Alleghanies—A Politician in Arkansas—Exposure, Flight, Rum and Death.

William Hill, a patient in a private asylum near Glasgow, Scotland, died a few weeks ago. Many years ago there lived in Iredell county, North Carolina, a respected Presbyterian minister named Curry, the pride of whose life was an only son, Nixon by name, in whose training the good man took peculiar delight. The young man won the affections of a young girl attending the same school, and so ardent was their attachment that no rival was suffered to come between them. When the girl reached the age of fifteen, her devotion to young Curry became so manifest that her parents, wishing to secure for her what they viewed as a better alliance, forbade further intercourse between the two. As a natural consequence, clandestine meetings were resorted to, and continued for three years. At the expiration of that period, the hand of the young lady was sought by the son of a Southern statesman, and her parents tried to compel her acceptance, whereat she eloped with young Curry. The couple were overtaken. Then the young man turned and shot his rival, who led the pursuit, killing him instantly. The young couple then renewed their flight. After a long and heated chase Curry took refuge with his betrothed in the Allegheny Mountains, near the head waters of the Catawba, and there, outlawed from society, he became a highwayman, and speedily achieved a dreaded notoriety by the number and character of his daring exploits. The Governor of North Carolina offered $5,000 for his arrest, and many, lured by the tempting offer, tried to hunt him down. Suddenly he was missed from North Carolina. It was supposed that he had died, or that he had changed his base of operations.

One day, at the time of the first settlement of the fertile delta of the St. Francis river, in what is now Arkansas, an immigrant appeared in the district calling himself John Hill. He was a handsome, amiable man, and though having only moderate means, extended a generous hospitality to all who visited his beautiful little home, rendered doubly attractive by the presence of a lovely wife. In a short time he became the most popular man in the settlement, and so he continued for ten or twelve years. He was repeatedly elected to the Legislature, and there he was distinguished for powerful and impassioned eloquence. He became a leader in the ranks of his party, was a member of the Convention that framed the State Constitution, and represented his district in the Senate of Arkansas.

Hill's most intimate acquaintances were the Strongs, four brothers, men of wealth and ambition. A close intimacy sprang up between them, and Hill, in an unguarded moment, made the eldest Strong conversant with his previous history, telling him that he was the notorious Nixon Curry, of North Carolina. Strong then requested Hill to resign his seat in the Senate, but Hill refused, and the brothers conspired to ruin him. Sending to North Carolina they procured a requisition for his arrest and a copy of the reward offered for his capture. The four brothers, powerful and determined as they were, well knowing the character of the man with whom they were to deal, secured the assistance of a dozen men and, surrounding his house, attempted to effect his capture. On approaching the main entrance and demanding his surrender, one of them was shot dead, and three others were dangerously wounded, and the attack was abandoned.

The Governor of Arkansas published an additional reward for Hill's arrest, and hastily packing a few articles he set out with his wife and children for Upper Arkansas, where he knew of a band of desperadoes whose members he had reason to believe would protect him. He was overtaken at Conway Court House, and halting his wagon and admonishing his wife and children to keep their places he stepped forth in the face of his pursuers, and in a few eloquent words told them why he quit North Carolina, at the same time assuring his pursuers that he would not be taken alive. The gallantry of the action operated in his favor, and the pursuit was abandoned. Constant pursuit had already made him morose and quarrelsome, and he began to drink heavily and resort to the gambling table as a means of support. One day in September, 1845, while seated at breakfast, he told his wife that he had a premonition of death, and felt that he should be killed that day before sunset. Calling his son William, a bright boy of fourteen, he made him swear to kill the man who should kill his father. The Circuit Court of Pope county being in session, he attended it in company with a young man named Howard who was enaged to his eldest daughter. As soon as they reached the village Hill began to drink and exhibited an unusual disposition to quarrel. He insulted every one he met, and finally threatened to clean the Court House; he dashed into the Court room, to the consternation of Judge, jury and lawyers. Young Howard tried to restrain him, but, glaring like a tiger, he turned upon the youth and felled him to the floor, at the same time drawing a pistol, he exclaimed: "Kill me or I'll kill you!" The man, in a moment of extreme anguish, drew a knife and buried it in the bowels of Hill. He died soon after.

Howard quit Arkansas, and several years later was heard of in San Antonio, Texas, where he joined the Confederate forces under the command of Col. Long. At the close of the war he was met by William Hill, who remembering the oath he had taken at his father's instance, shot the former and fled to Europe. He joined the French army and served through the Franco-Prussian war, but was subject to fits of temporary insanity. Finally his case became hopeless, and he was placed by his friends in an asylum near Glasgow, Scotland, where he recently died.

MISS ANNIE LOUISE CARY.

Account of Her First Night in Moscow.

Miss Annie Louise Cary writes to a friend in Chicago an amusing account of her first night in Moscow. Here are some extracts: "The terrible night came, and I put on the war-paint with fear and trembling, and my eyes were double their size with excitement. I sang my couplets, which open the second act of 'Trovatore'—and such applause! It was just like the Cincinnatians at the Festival (bless them). I had been told to make my first bow to a certain box, containing the Princes and Princesses, but for the life of me I couldn't tell which it was, so I stood still, as frightened as a goose, and then, in my misery, I bowed first to the 'plebs.' Horrors! When I came to my senses I bowed to the wrong box again. After the Delirious Scene I was applauded and shrieked at until I thought the Modocs were on my track, and then I bowed to the wrong box again! After the close of the second act we were called out four times. By that time I knew where to bow, and I smiled my sweetest to 'the Royalties.' After the third act I was recalled three times, and after the entire opera we went out six times. The second time we sang the public was even more enthusiastic, and I had to go out alone in answer to the cries of "Cary, solo.' They called for me alone the first night, but I do not like to offend my sister and brother artists, so I went out with others at the end of the opera. I went out alone six times, and such shouting and waving of hats and handkerchiefs! My success has been the event of the season thus far. You see they thought that nothing special could come from Yankeedom. When I say I am an American they think I am from South America, which I hasten to explain by telling them that I am the Yankeest of the Yankees, and that I was born among the rocks of dear old Maine."

Forty-Nine Years in Bed.

An artist fond of subjects for still-life pictures could find all he wanted in the case of William Sharpe, who, according to the Doncaster Gazette, went to bed in 1807, and never got up till he died there in 1856,—a still life of forty-nine years passed in a chamber nine feet square, the windows of which had not been raised for thirty-eight years. When he was thirty he went one fine morning to church to be married, but his affianced came not, her father having an invincible repugnance to Mr. William Sharpe as a son-in-law. The mortified bridegroom went home, undressed, got into bed, pulled the blankets over his head, and for forty-nine years obstinately refused to get up and clothe himself, or to do any work, passing the time uninterruptedly in bed. He was never seriously ill during this time. His body was perfectly sound in spite of its great age and great abuse, and he was only sick one week before his death.

Looking for a Windfall.

It is the Van Katts, or Van Cotts, living mostly in the vicinity of New York, who are looking for a big windfall from the other side of the Atlantic. The property, originally that of an old Dutch Burgomaster, whose children came over here two centuries and more ago, has been accumulating ever since under the Dutch government care, till it now amounts to between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 florins. Hitherto all attempts to get at the property have failed because the Dutch authorities have been unwilling to give information to any person who could not prove lineal descent from the original testator. But a "lineal" has gone to Amsterdam, and writes back encouragingly; a few hundred dollars for expenses, and a percentage for services is all that is needed.

PERSONAL.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY has been elected to the Minnesota Legislature after all.

THE Attorney General of Florida has declared unconstitutional the law licensing keno.

THERE is one Labor Reformer in the Massachusetts Legislature—the Rev. Jesse H. Jones, of North Abington.

EX-GOV. CURTIN, accompanied by ex-Senator Cattell and Mr. Thomas H. Dudley, of New Jersey, has gone to Colorado.

JOHN G. THOMPSON, Chairman of the Ohio Democratic State Central Committee, is a prominent candidate for Sergeant-at-Arms of the Lower House of the next Congress.

THE gratifying announcement is made that Miss Charlotte Cushman has recovered her health so far as to be able to appear in public again soon. She hopes to give readings in Philadelphia next week.

HON. WILLIAM STEWART and wife, of New Castle, celebrated their golden wedding recently. Mr. Stewart was once connected with the Treasury Department at Harrisburg, and was a member of the Legislature.

THE latest gossip on the question of Speakership puts down ex-Gov. Walker as a compromise candidate between the Kerr and Randall factions. It is doubtful, however, if the proposition has existence outside of the minds of imaginative Washington correspondents.

WE take most sincere pleasure in saying that the reports respecting the health of General Fitz Henry Warren, which we first saw in some of the Western papers and commented upon a day or two since, appear to have been greatly exaggerated. His mind is by no means overthrown, but, on the contrary, is still clear and vigorous, and his physicians say that he is steadily improving in condition. We rejoice greatly in this intelligence, and trust that his complete restoration may not be delayed.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

ONE Welsh girl will never have anything but Neuralgia—for her name.

CHICAGO has twenty-nine steam fire engines and big London twenty-one.

IN Michigan, last year, 518,493 people were married, and we are sorry to say that nearly half of them were men.

A BALTIMORE servant girl the other morning tried that good old time-honored plan of lighting the fire with kerosene. Nothing has benzine of her since.

MRS. MARIE DARRINGTON DESLONDE, a well known New Orleans society belle, is about to publish with Carleton & Co., a novel, entitled, The Miller of Silcott-Mill.

"JOHN, I wish you'd close that door," said an irritable father to his son. "Your mother must be scolding somebody at the other end of the hall, there's such a draught from that quarter."

WEST INDIA PICKLES is the spicy title given by W. P. Talboys to a humorous book, in the press of Carleton & Co., being the Diary of a Yacht Cruise last Winter among the West India Islands.

THIRTY newspapers succumbed to the hard times during the month of October, and the prospect is favorable for the suspension of a much greater number during the present month.

"INFELICE" bids fair to rival "St. Elmo" in advance orders. Carleton & Co., the publishers, are negotiating with a large dealer for the enormous number of 50,000 copies, including "the market."

MANY a good-minded mother has innocently warped her son's character Satanward by arguing that gray patches could be inserted in black pantaloons without the other boys being able to detect the difference.

THE 20,000,000f. left to the discretion of the city of Geneva by the Duke of Brunswick is again under discussion. A son of the Countess de Civry, daughter of the Duke, says his family is deprived of it in violation of natural, divine, and civil laws.

IT is estimated at the close of 1874 207,677 steam engines of all classes and descriptions were in use throughout the world. These united engines represented 16,000,000 horse power; that is, were equivalent to the power of 25,000,000 horses working night and day, or to the labor of 200,000,000 men.

PERFUMERS, by blending primary odors, obtain all the various bouquets. Roses, orange blossoms, jasmine, violets, geranium, tuberoses, and jonquil, contain types of nearly all flower odors. Blend jasmine and orange flowers, and you get the scent of the sweet pea; jasmine and tuberose mixed produce the perfume of hyacinth; while violet and tuberose resemble the lily of the valley.

ALL the rats in the Ophir and Consolidated Virginia mines were killed by the gas during the late fire and not one is to be seen now in either mine. These rats eat up the scraps of bread, meat, &c., that are thrown away by the miners, and which if left lying around would make the air very impure. Their presence is therefore a blessing, and it is very seldom that one of them is molested by the miners.

TWO ADDITIONAL facts relative to Mr. Valentine Baker, late Assistant Quartermaster General, and now of Horsemonger Jail, in the county of Surrey: First, his effects, including war-charger, furniture, and articles of vertu, were sold by auction at North Camp, Aldershot, there being three hundred lots, which realized high prices; and, next, the cost of his trial, which he has to pay, have been legally "taxed," his solicitor having thereby wiped away excessive charges to the amount of over $3,000.

IN A large majority of cases, says the Journal of Health, it will be found that the best and healthiest meal of the day should be eaten in the morning. With a good substantial breakfast no great amount of food will be needed during the remainder of the day. One further meal will be ample, and that might better be taken at from 2 to 3 P. M. One "square meal" in every twenty-four hours is all that can be taken care of by many weak stomachs, and more than this is an excess and induces headache, nausea and distress.

Two lawyers in New Orleans, opposing counsel, made quite a disturbance in court one day lately. The Bulletin in speaking of it says that both gentlemen are well advanced in years, but gave evidence that there was some muscle left. Seizing a large inkstand, the eldest drew it back and delivered a telling blow on the other's head, bespattering himself, however, in a variegated map of the West India Islands with the ink. The blow knocked his opponent down, and the victor seized him by the throat and was proceeding to choke the fallen lawyer a little too vigorously, when the officers interferred and separated them.

A PARTY of four girls, at East Bridgeport, Conn., several days ago, on their way home from school, came upon eight boys who had captured a kitten, and, having covered it with kerosene oil, proposed to set it on fire. They begged the boys to give them the kitten, and were refused, whereupon they offered to buy it. This proposal also failed to meet the wishes of the boys, and the girls then hailed a passing man and begged him to interfere. He refused, saying he did not care what the boys did with the cat. Rendered desperate by repeated failures, the plucky girls attacked the party of boys, and, although they were outnumbered two to one, succeeded in taking the kitten from them, and carrying it away in triumph.

STATE BREVITIES.

THE Monticello furnace property in Armstrong county, is to be sold on the 20th inst.

THE residence of David Anthony, at Dubois Station, on the Low Grade road, in Clearfield county, was destroyed by fire on the 7th inst.

JACOB RITTER, while charging the puddling furnace at the Pottstown Iron Works, was met in the face by a flash of fire and had his eyes burned from their sockets.

THE Pittston bank robbery didn't amount to much after all. The loss is only $438, and the bonds stolen were not the property of the bank, and are believed to be without value to the thieves.

FOUR ministers of the Evangelical Church have just completed a church building in Wrightsville, Pa., which they erected with their own hands in twelve days, and it will be dedicated on next Sunday. They designed it and performed all the necessary work for its completion themselves, and in the meantime conducted a meeting at the chapel at Millersville, driving from one place to the other every evening and morning.

Sixteen Families Poisoned at Rahway, New Jersey.

Shortly after 8 o'clock on Friday night an epidemic, resembling colic, excited great alarm among the employes of Taylor, Bloodgood & Co.'s felt factory in Clark township, near Rahway, N. J. Several persons who were employed in the factory at night were confined to their beds on Saturday, and work in the mill was partially suspended. Mr. and Mrs. Bloodgood and a sister of Dr. Brudzes are dangerously ill. The patients were suddenly taken with cramps in the bowels and lower extremities, with very severe vomiting. Dr. Silvers, of Rahway, remained with the sufferers during Friday night. The symptoms in each case were alike, and the cause of the attack was easily traced to cheese sold by Coles & Co., more than twenty families having had portions of it on their supper tables. In all, about sixteen families are known to have been poisoned, but up to noon on Saturday none of the cases had terminated fatally. The physicians think that the cheese was pressed in a copper press, and that the action of the acid in the cheese upon the copper poisoned the cheese and produced the serious results. On Saturday a few of the hands were able to go work.

Kisagotami.

Kisagotami, clasping to her breast
Her boy just dead, and with strange fear possessed,

Ran through the streets, besieging every door
For some rare balm his lost life to restore;

Until her neighbors, at this frantic grief,
For which the world itself has no relief,

Began to say, "The girl has lost her head—
What medicine is that which cures the dead?"

But one more wise and taking pity's part,
Offered this solace to her aching heart:

"Dear girl, I cannot proffer you much joy,
But there's a doctor who will help your boy."

Asking his name, the girl was straightway sent
To good Gotama, and to him she went.

"Good master, aid me, for I hear it said
You have the power to raise my child that's dead."

The Buddha answered, "If I do this deed,
'Tis needful you procure some mustard-seed

"Found in a house where neither groom nor bride, Parent nor child, nor man nor maid has died."

Then with her child still clasped about her waist,
From house to house, a weary round she paced

On her sad errand—but could cross no door
Where Death's dark shadow had not passed before.

One voice forever on her pathway flew:
"The dead are many, but the living few."

So, when Gotama asked if she had brought
The mustard-seed, so long and vainly sought,

She said: "I have it not—each way I sped
I found but few were living, many dead."

And Buddha answered: "True enough, most true,
Death comes to all, as it has come to you."

So fled her grief, and seeing in the night,
At every house, a bright or fading light,

She said: "Our human lives are just the same,
First an uprising, then a dying flame;

"Never on earth will such mutations cease,
But after death comes rest and endless peace."

About Turtles.

The Watkins Express prints the following as an "original" composition, the production of a pupil in one of the primary departments of the Watkins Union School:

TURTLES.

The turtle is a reptile. It has a head like a snake and a little sharp tail and four claws like an alligator. The rest of him lives inside the bones so I don't know what he looks like.

The bones are outside and are called the shell.

They live a great many years. They are very ugly and stupid and I don't think you could tame them if you tried all Summer.

I suppose they are good for something but I don't know what it is.

It is fun to catch them.

In some countries but not in this they keep them round the house to kill bugs.

A turtle has no teeth but it don't make any difference, for there are bones in their mouths and can hold on to a stick all day if you stay and pull.

I don't believe they ever die hardly. I don't know how I should go to work to kill a turtle unless I smashed him with a big hammer. The shells are real pretty when you have boiled the turtle partly out. They live all Winter like bears without nothing to eat. I don't see how they do it. I think they are awful homely. Their eyes look as if they were set in upside down. They mostly stay in the same place.

It takes them a long while to get anywhere.

There are a great many kinds of turtles, and some are good to eat. This is all I can think of about turtles.

A MAN, who has traveled, says that it didn't take him long to find out that the brakemen own all the railroads and the clerks all the hotels.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, November 16, 1875.

Business is still moderately active, attention now being directed by a number of dealers to the holiday trade. It seems to be generally anticipated that the holiday demand will be strong and active. The money market rules steady and quiet, with about demand enough to sustain rates at the old quotations, and as long as money is employed this gives a kind of tone to the market. But there is little indication of any material advance in rates at present, and the talk about "stringency," and "bridging over," and "active demand," which has been usual at this time of the year, seems to have been expunged from the vocabulary of both borrowers and lenders. Up to the present time higher rates have generally indicated lower credit, rather than an increased demand and greater firmness in the market. And whenever the impression has gained prevalence that rates really were higher it has seemed to be the signal for a new influx upon the market of loanable funds. What the next two months and a half may have in store we shall not venture to forecast, but we very much doubt if it developes any scarcity of money.

The London correspondent of the Tribune reports the Bradford Chamber of Commerce strongly impressed by the statement of a speaker that American cotton goods were finding buyers in Bradford, and that they were cheaper and better than Lancashire cottons. It is also stated that Mr. Hugh Mason, a very large manufacturer in Lancashire, in addressing a meeting of his workpeople, told them that he though the importation of American cloths a formidable fact.

The Delaware Mutual Safety Insurance Company announces a cash dividend of 10 per cent. on the capital stock and 6 per cent. interest on the scrip of the company, payable on the 1st of December next. Also, a scrip dividend of 35 per cent. on the earned premiums for the year ending October 31, 1875, certificates of which will be issued to the parties entitled to the same on the 1st of December next.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company has executed a $10,000 gold mortgage on its lands in California, Nevada and Utah, to raise money for completing the telegraph line from Roseville to the northern boundary of California, and from Lathrop to Visalia, and for the payment of debts. The interest on the bonds (6 per cent.) is to be paid in New York in April and October.

Robinson Brothers, Bankers, No. 78 Fourth avenue, furnish the following quotations of bonds and stocks from the latest advices by telegraph:

NEW YORK, November 15, 1875.

The money market was easy at 2½a3½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 6a8. The customs receipts were $423,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $275,000. The clearings were $40,000,000. Sterling was strong at 483½a488. Gold opened at 114⅞, declined to 114¼, and closed at 114⅜. The carrying rates were 1 and 2 per cent. Loans were also made flat. Governments were strong, with small transactions. Railroad bonds were quiet and firm this afternoon. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy 8s brought 116⅝, and Michigan Central 7s 101⅝. Chicago and Northwestern firsts sold at 98⅞a99½, and Milwaukee and St. Paul, C. & M. division, 74. State securities were quiet. Tennessees were lower.

The stock market was generally strong and higher to-day, and closed firm at some reaction from the best quotations. In the early advance western shares were prominent, Northwest rising to 39 5-8, preferred to 54, St. Paul to 37 1-2, preferred to 67, Lake Shore to 62 1-4, Ohios to 19 7-8, Hannibal and St. Joseph to 23, and preferred to 26. Subsequently there was a reaction of 1-4 to 1 5-8 per cent., which was partially regained at the close. Union Pacific advanced to 74½, and afterwards fell off to 71 7-8, with a subsequent recovery to 73½, and a final close at 72 1-4. Pacific Mail, after selling at 39½@40, advanced to 40 7-8, with the last sales at 40 1-2@40 5-8. Panama was weak and declined to 129 7-8 at the close. The publication of the plan of the Panama directors for a new line of steamers from New York to San Francisco had only a slight temporary effect on Pacific Mail, but seemed to weaken Panama stock. Western Union advanced from 75⅛ to 76⅛, closing at 75⅞. Michigan Central fell off from 66½ to 65, and closed at 65½@65⅞. Erie declined from 16⅞ to 16¼. Delaware, Lackawanna & Western was strong, and advanced from 118⅜ to 120, closing at a slight reaction. Pittsburgh rose to 89½. United States Express closed at 52 bid and 53½ asked, after an advance to 55. The changes in the remainder of the list were comparatively slight.

The Commercial says the reports of increased railroad traffic over Western roads come in most favorably. But for the pending decision of the Supreme Court on the Granger cases, appealed from Wisconsin, we should expect to see much higher prices for Northwests and St. Pauls.

The transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 136,000 shares, of which 38,000 were Pacific Mail, 27,000 Western Union, 12,000 Northwest common, 3,000 preferred, 6,000 St. Paul common, 2,500 preferred, 9,000 Erie, 3,000 St. Joe, 9,000 Lake Shore, 15,000 Ohios, and 7,000 Union Pacific.

Dispatches say there is a panic at the London Stock Exchange and the Paris Bourse. The only explanation given is that questionable kinds of Government securities dealt in in those markets have fallen.

Cotton flannels are in steady request and firm. Plaid and shirting prints are in fair demand. Fancy cassimeres are taken more freely by the clothing trade. Flannels and blankets are less active.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, November 15, 1875.

The leading markets continue dull and inactive, more so than ordinarily at this season of the year; but now that the fall elections are over, and it is not likely that there will be any immediate change in the financial policy of the Government, it is hoped and expected that there will soon be a change for the better. The outlook is more encouraging in some respects; one very important matter is the stock of Pittsburgh manufactures is very much reduced, both in the hands of jobbers and consumers, and, as the farmers have had good crops for several years in succession, and realized renumerative prices for their products, there is reason to expect an increased demand for the goods in question. What is especially important here in Pittsburgh is the operation of all our manufacturing establishments, thereby giving steady employment to her thousands of working men, who are dependent upon their daily toil for their subsistence. In addition to the reduction in wages there are a great many people out of employment, many of them, funds, as well, and as long as this continues no improvement in general business can reasonably be expected.

APPLES—The receipts slacked off slightly during the past week, as compared with several weeks preceding, but the supply is large and increasing, estimated at from 35,000 to 40,000 barrels, and with only a moderate demand and strong disposition to realize, prices are weak and lower; quotable at $2,50a3,25, on track by the car load, for fair to choice fruit and $3,00a4 for fair to prime, in a jobbing way. The most of the receipts have been rather common in point of quality, but they are mostly in good condition for holding, and it is not likely, therefore, that there will be any further concessions made.

ALE—The market continues dull, like everything else is feeling the effects of hard times, but there is no change whatever to note in prices. X, $9 per barrel to the country, and $8 to city; XX, $10; India, $11. Half barrels, in proportion.

APPLE BUTTER—70a75c per gallon.

BEANS—The supply, although not large, is consideraly in excess of the demand, which is exceedingly small, and prices are weak and drooping; mediums, quotable at $1,60a1,65 per bushel and navies at $1,70a1,75.

BUTTER—The market continues quiet, and excepting for strictly prime, the supply of which is not more than equal to the demand, prices are weak and lower; dealers nearly all report that the great bulk of the receipts recently have been common in point of quality, and the consequence is the market is overstocked with all the various grades, excepting strictly prime. Prime to choice rolls, 25a28c; extra creamery, 29a30c; medium to good solid packed, 15a20c; common, 10a12c.

BROOMS—The following are the "Union Factory" prices: No. 2 common, $2,25; No 3 hurl, $2,50; No. 4 hurl, $3,00; No. 5 hurl, $3,25; No. 6 hurl, $3,50; No. 3 carpet, $3,75; No. 4 carpet, $4,00; fancy parlor, $4,50; hotel, $5,00; railroad, $3,25a3,50; wisps, 6, 8, and 10 inch, $1,25a2,00; toy, $1,25a1,50.

BROOM CORN—Dull and lower. Plenty of medium length and red tipped Corn offering, while choice green and Corn that will work up is scarce, and what demand there is appears to be for the latter. Sales only in a small way at 8 1-2a9c for good green that will work up, and 6 1-2a7 1-2c for good medium. Hurl 10a11 1-2c, as to quality. All the old corn, which is the most desirable, is held by one commission house, and they report sales at 1-2c to ¾c over like grades of new. Our western advices also report old brush taken in preference to new at the same difference.

FEATHERS—In limited demand at 62a65c for choice live geese. Other grades from 25a40c, as to quality. The usual advance for small lots.

DRIED FRUIT—Some inquiry for peaches and apples. Sales of choice halves peaches at 12a13 1-2c. Sales of dried apples at 10¾a11c. Pealed Peaches at 21a22c per pound.

CANNED GOODS—Very active, and advancing; some goods entirely out of the market.

3 lb. Peaches	2,25	Baltimore Corn	1,50
3 pound extra Peaches	3,00	Marrowfat peas	2,00

3 lb. Tomatoes	$1,65a1,75

CEMENT AND LIME—Following are current rates: Gibsonberg, $1,65a1,75; Fremont, $1,55a1,75; Cleveland, $1,65a1,75. Calcined Plaster—French's Selected, $4a4,25; New York, $3,50a3,75; Michigan, $3,50a3,75. Cement—Youghiogheny, $1,75a2,00; Louisville, $2,a2,25; Rosedale, $3,00a3,50; Portland, $6,50a7; White Sand, $1,75.

CIDER—Is quoted at 18a20c per gallon, no charge for packages.

CHEESE—The general tone of the market has been easier during the week, under the influence of unfavorable reports from New York, but prices remain as last quoted. Prime Ohio Factory, 13¾a14c for August, and 14a14½c for September make. New York Goshen, 15c.

COAL—The only important feature we have to report is a decline in the Cincinnati and Louisville markets, the result of recent large shipments from this point by river, although it was unexpected. Anthracite may be quoted at $6,50 per ton, on track, and $7 delivered.

COKE—Trade continues dull, in sympathy with the continued depression in pig iron, but prices remain unchanged; $2,50a2,75 per ton, dellivered free on cars in Pittsburgh.

CRANBERRIES—The market continues quiet and prices remain unchanged; $10a11 per bbl.

CORDAGE AND ROPE—There is a fair business, about all that can be expected at this particular time and under existing circumstances, but there is no change to note in prices.

EGGS—The supply of fresh continues light, and prices are well maintained, notwithstanding the demand is limited; quoted at 28a30c. Pickled in good supply and dull at 23a26, according to brand.

FISH—Following is the current rates: Extra No. 1 Mess Mackerel, per bbl, $34; No.1 ditto, $32; Extra No. 1 Shore, $28; No. 1 ditto, $25; Extra No. 1 Bay, $22; Extra No. 2, $16; large 3's $11; Split Labrador Herring, $9; Split Shore Herring, $8,50; Round Shore Herring, $6,50a7. White Fish, $5,75 per half barrel. Lake Herring, per half barrel, $4,50; Large Georges Codfish, 6 1-2c per pound; Boneless Codfish, 7a7 12c per pound; No. 1 Herring, per box, 50 cents; Smoked Bloater Herring, $2,30 per box.

FLOUR—Trade has been very quiet since the date of our last review, and the market presents but little that is really new or important; there is no change whatever in prices. Old winter wheat, $7a7,25 for red and $7,40a7,50 for amber; old spring wheat, $7a7,25; new ditto, $6,50a7. Fancy white wheat Flours are selling at from $8 to $9. There is still more or less complaint in regard to winter wheat flour, a considerable per centage of which is not giving satisfaction; new spring wheat flour, however, is almost equal to the old. Rye Flour very dull $5,25a5,50 per barrel. Buckwheat Flour, 2¼a3c per pound.

GROCERIES—Coffee continues depressed, the large supply and continued liberal receipts at Rio seem to have dispelled the hopes of high prices, inspired by persistent and apparently liable reports of a short crop—the situation being accepted as the reverse of encouraging to holding. The stock of Rio and Santos Coffee in first and second hands, at all ports of the United States, is about 350,000 bags, with about 400,000 bags purchased, loading and afloat up to the date of the latest telegram, as follows:

GRAIN—The grain markets continue dull, unusually so for this season of the year, but it is hoped and expected that there will soon be a change for the better. The receipts have fallen off somewhat within the past week or two, but the supply is ample, considerably in excess of present requirements, which are down to the lowest limits. Wheat is dull, and except for strictly prime, prices are lower; quotable at $1,25a1,30 for fair to prime new red and $1,40a1,42 for old; new white, $1,35a1,40, with but little offering. The mills hereabouts are buying all the good, sound stock that offers, but sprouty wheat is hard to dispose of at any price. Barley is still reported very dull, and prices are weak and irregular, ranging all the way from $1 to $1,30 per bu., as to quality and condition.

HIDES—The local demand is small, and surplus stock is being placed more largely than heretofore to buyers further from home. The demand is not large and buyers are slow to take hold. We quote:

CATTLE.

The number on sale was again light, 658 head, and the market was more active and firmer, with an advance of from 10 to 15c per cwt in some instances, especially for the better grades. There were but eleven cars from Chicago, and these were common and cost considerably more than those from the same point last week; the balance of the supply was from Ohio and Pennsylvania, and, as a rule, graded common to medium. The average quality was not equal to that of last Monday, but there was a very fair assortment, and the butchers generally had no difficulty in being suited, and while the supply of choice beeves has been light for some weeks past, but very few of this kind are wanted. There were but very few cattle sold to-day above 7a7½c, and not many at these rates, as there were but few of this kind on sale; a couple of carloads of extra could probably have been disposed of at 7¼a7½c, but drovers allege that it is impossible just now to get hold of cattle of this character at Chicago or any other point. However, there is an abundance of all other grades, with the exception of the one in question, and the demand for extra at current rates is steadily falling off. Prime butcher stock sold to-day at 6a6½, and medium to good at 5a5½c. Bulls ranged from 3½ to 4½, with but few on sale and but few wanted.

It is worthy of notice that there are not as many cattle offering in this market as there usually is at this season of the year, but as a great many butchers are buying regularly at East Liberty, a smaller number is required; some of the butchers allege that they have been able to do better in East Liberty recently than in this market, but this is disputed by the Allegheny drovers, who claim that, taking everything into consideration, the butcher can do better here than elsewhere, taking it the year round.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The number on sale was the largest we have had to report for some time past, almost 1,100; the quality was mostly common, and while prime stock sold without much difficulty at prices almost equal to those of last week, those bordering on the scalawag order were dull and lower, with some odds and ends remaining unsold at the close. The general outlook warrants the prediction that prime stock is destined to meet with ready sale until after the holidays, while common, on the other hand, will be dull and neglected, and will be sold at low rates. This is usually the case during the time in question, and we can see no reason why this year should be an exception. Prime, fat sheep sold to-day at 5 1-4a5¾c; medium to good, 4 1-2a5c; common, 3 1-2a4c. Lambs quotable at 5a1-2a6 1-2c per lb. for fair to prime. R. McCaslin had a bunch of 40 head, average about 100 lbs, which brought about 7 cents, but they were of extra quality. The stock on sale was report as follows:

HOGS.

There was an increased supply, as in addition to those in the hands of the regular dealers there were a number of outside lots, and this, in connection with the tumble at East Liberty yards, was not without its effect here; prices, as compared with last week, ruled from a 1-4c to a 1-2c lower, although there was an increased inquiry, the lower prices having stimulated the demand; sales were made in a retail way at 7 1-2a8c per pound gross.

VEAL CALVES

continue in light supply, and with considerable inquiry the market is firm but not quotably higher; selling, in a retail way, at 6a7c per pound for fair to prime.

FRESH COWS.

The offerings have been comparatively light for several weeks past, and good milkers are selling readily at full prices, say $50a60; extra, $65a70.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1875.

Trade continues exceedingly dull and unsatisfactory, and while it is hoped there will soon be a reaction, the outlook at present is not very encouraging; however, it is well to bear in mind that a reaction sometimes takes place when it is least expected. The production of Refined must of necessity be very much reduced, in view of so many refineries being stopped, and this must, sooner or later, have its legitimate effect in stiffening up the market. Crude was quoted dull and weak; immediate shipment, $1,46 1-4a1,47 1-2; United Certificates, $1,22¾; Conduit, $1,25. Barge oil offered at $1,65. Refined—eastern dispatches reported there was no inquiry for Philadelphia delivery at any price, and that New York was offered at 12⅜c.

Oil Barrels continue exceedingly dull, but prices have undergone no quotable change; countries, $1 20; city make, $1,30.

L. A. WELSH,
Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening, by the marks, was 5 feet 4 inches, and rising. It was expected that there would be 6½ to 7 feet here to-day, under the influence of the Allegheny rise—over five feet reported at Oil City. Cloudy, with indications favorable for more rain.

THE John L. Rhoads was announced for this port yesterday.

QUITE a number of towboat are due here within the next 48 hours.

THE Fearless and barges will load first for St Louis after the Ironsides.

IF there is plenty of water, the Arlington may extend her present trip from New Orleans to Pittsburgh.

THE E. H. Durfee will lay up for a few days for an opening; in the meantime she will make some repairs.

CAPT. JOHN G. BENSON, commander of the side-wheel lower coast packet Gov. Allen, died in New Orleans on Friday.

IT is claimed that the Mary Bell took the largest cargo of cotton that was ever landed at New Orleans on her last down trip.

CAPT. J. J. DARRAGH returned from Cincinnati to Memphis on the Vint. Shinkle, to resume command of the Belle of Texas.

THE Ironsides and barges will depart for St. Louis this P. M. or early in the morning—shippers should close up all their lots today.

THE Mary Bell had seventy-six rousters, at $60 per month on her last trip. After the cotton picking season is over wages will drop some.

THIS is the first appearance of the E. H. Durfee here for a couple of years or more. She made the run from Cincinnati in a little over three days.

THE Rover, with a cargo of iron ore, was to have left Carondelet yesterday for this port, and the Ed. Hobbs leaves there for Wheeling the same day.

THE arrivals since our last include the Exchange, Carrie Brooks, Salt Valley, E. H. Durfee, and towboats Dick Fulton No. 3, Enterprise, Whale and My Choice. The Salt Valley was the only departure.

THE Emma Graham is due from Cincinnati to-day, and, as will be seen by card, she is announced to depart to-morrow at noon. The Graham purposes to make weekly trips, leaving here every Wednesday at noon.

THE Exchange arrived on time, with a very fair trip, and, as will be seen by card, she will depart again on Wednesday. The veteran Captain John L. Rhoads is in command, and Messrs. Harbison and Dales are in charge of the office.

LAST Friday at 5 A. M., the Wild Duck and barges, bound down, and the Mary Miller, bound up, collided a short distance above Madison, Indiana, near the same place where the C. E. Hillman and Nannie Byers collided several years ago. It is claimed the Mary Miller blew twice for the Indiana shore, and that the Wild Duck responded with two whistles, but in a few minutes afterwards sounded her whistle once, when the Mary Miller collided with one of the Wild Duck's barges. The Mary Miller's stem was broken and her jackstaff carried away. The Wild Duck proceeded on her way, and the damage to the latter was not ascertained. Pilot Henry Thomas was at the wheel of the Mary Miller. He was also at the wheel of one of the mail boats when she collided with the Wild Duck some time since. The Mary Miller will repair her damages forthwith.

Arrested for Embezzlement.

A man named Wm. Gracy was arrested at East Liverpool, Ohio, yesterday, and brought to the city on a requisition of the Orphans' Court, on a charge of embezzlement. Gracy and his brother formerly had a blacksmith shop in partnership at the Point. The brother died about two years ago and designated Wm. Gracy as guardian of his orphan children, three in number. Some time since it transpired that Gracy had embezzled $6,000 of the orphans' money, and a warrant for his arrest was issued. He kept himself out of the way until yesterday, when he was discovered and arrested, as noted. The bondsmen for the real estate are Messrs. Douglass, McKain and James Kiter; for the personal property Messrs. C. H. Love and James Reese. Gracy is in jail awaiting the action of the Court.

Grammatical Errors in the Dispatch.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

Having frequently noted grammatical errors in the editorial columns of the Dispatch, its ill-natured criticisms of the GAZETTE in yesterday's issue provoked me to examine whether I could not in the first column of that very issue find a gross blunder, and here is the result.

In the editorial arsicle under the caption "Another Version," occurs the following: "A daughter of the Emperor and wife of the Conde D'Eu had her sympathies enlisted in behalf of the Bishops whom she supposed were grievously persecuted."

As the grammatical acumen of the editor of the Dispatch may not suffice to show wherein the error lies even after the offending word has been indicated by italics, I would suggest that the phrase "she supposed" be treated as parenthetical—which it in fact is—and when he reads the sentence with that phrase omitted, as follows: "Whom were grievously persecuted," I think even his obtuse perceptions will discover that the pronoun should be in the nominative case instead of the objective.

The frequency with which a similar grammatical blunder occurs in the Dispatch proves that the fault indicated is not merely typographical. R.

Knights of the Crowbar.

The store of Samuel Oller, at Sturgeon's Hall, in Baldwin township, about eight miles from the city, was broken into by thieves on Sunday night and robbed of a large quantity of goods of various kinds, which were carried off in a wagon. The thieves evidently had a heavy load, and it is likely robbed stores in other localities, for Mr. Oller traced them to the outskirts of the city, at Temperanceville, by the articles they had cast by the roadside in order to lighten their vehicle and assist them in making a rapid escape. The detectives in the Mayor's office have been notified of the affair. It is thought the robbers brought their plunder to the city. Mr. Oller is postmaster at the village in which he lives, but none of the mail matter was touched. The dwelling of George C. McNulty, immediately opposite Mr. Oller's, was also entered on Sunday night, but the fellows were frightened away by the awakening of the master of the house. Robberies have also been recently committed at the store of John Murphy, at Library, Snowden township, and at the store of Mrs. McCauley, at Sodom, in Upper St. Clair township.

FELL DOWN STAIRS.

Accident to a Lady and an Infant.

Yesterday morning the wife of Thomas Kilpatrick, residing on North alley, near East Diamond street, fell down stairs. She had her babe in her arms at the time, and the babe's head struck against the wall, producing a severe contusion. The mother, however, escaped with but a few slight bruises. The child, it is thought, has been very seriously injured. Dr. Walter Ure is in attendance.

NOT VERY SMART.

Want of Precaution Captures an Hotel Thief.

E. Williamson, a West Virginia drover, was robbed early yesterday morning at the Shields' House, on Sixth street, of forty dollars. Immediately upon discovering the loss he notified Mr. Stahlman, the proprietor, and that gentleman at once proceeded to an investigation. He discovered that the only room vacant was No. 34—three doors from that occupied by Mr. Williamson. The occupant of that room was James Hoy, and the clerk said he had gone out but a few minutes before. In the room were found a pair of spectacles and a spectacle case, which Mr. Williamson identified at once as belonging to him—a loss he hadn't before discovered. Just about the time the search of the room had been completed, Hoy came in from the street and was at once taken into custody by patrolman John McClurey, who boards at the hotel. Upon being searched thirty-nine dollars and ten cents were found upon his person. He had spent ninety cents, doubtless for drinks. The officer took him to the Central Station and Mr. Stahlman subsequently lodged an information against him for larceny, upon which he was committed by the Mayor for a hearing next Monday.

FOUND OUT.

How The Leaders in a Twelfth Ward Midnight Row Were Punished.

Yesterday morning the Mayor fined James Hoerr and Patrick Bowler ten dollars and costs, and thereby hangs a tale. About twelve o'clock on Sunday night a row was kicked up on Penn avenue, near Sixteenth street. Patrolman Thos. Russell attempted to quell the disturbance when Bowler impudently ordered him to leave, and Hoerr, who was one of the crowd engaged in the fuss, attacked him. Officer J. H. Brinker arrived at this juncture and when he laid hands on one of the disturbers Hoerr jerked his mace from his wrist, the leather string attached to it lacerating the flesh. Again turning to officer Russell, Hoerr laid him on a cellar door and was punishing him with all the vigor he possessed, when Harry Roberts interfered and pulled Hoerr away. The entire party then left except Bowler, who was taken by Officer Russell to the Twelfth ward station. Several hours later Patrolman McCann found Roberts and Hoerr fighting in front of the old Ninth ward market house. He secured assistance, and took them to the Central Police Station. When arraigned yesterday morning for a hearing, Officer Russel recognized Hoerr as the one who had assaulted him, and Roberts as the one who had interfered in his behalf. In consideration of these good services, Mayor McCarthy would inflict no fine upon Roberts for fighting, and discharged him. Hoerr and Bowler he fined ten dollars and costs each, or twenty days in jail. After the hearing, Patrolmen Russell and Brinker each made an information for assault and battery against Hoerr. He paid his fine for fighting, and gave $1,000 bail for a hearing this afternoon on the suit for assault and battery.

Armstrong county vs. Overseers of the Poor of Buffalo, Butler county, Quarter Sessions of Armstrong county. Proceedings affirmed. By the Chief Justice.

William McCarthy, Mayor, vs. the Commonwealth ex rel. Walter. Appeal from the decree of the Common Pleas No. 2, of Allegheny. Judgment affirmed in an opinion by the Chief Justice, as follows: "The Mayor's duty in a case such as this, where the amount was properly estimated by the engineer, allowed by the committee of Councils and finally passed upon by the Comptroller, is ministerial and not judicial. All the facts being admitted, exhibiting the right of the relator to his warrant, it was not the province of the Mayor, to go into an examination of the previous estimate and allowances, in order to determine whether the relator had received more than his contract demanded. There appearing to be a clear legal right to the warrant for this particular sum, the Mayor's duty required him to sign it. The act of 1874 is inapplicable to this case."

Philip Murray vs. Commonwealth; error to the Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny county. Opinion by Paxson: "It is an unusual practice of the District Attorney to submit points to the Court in acapital case. In my own experience I have never known it to be done. Nor is it easy to see the object, as the case of the Commonwealth is concluded by the verdict. In this case it has resulted disasterously. The only substantial errors assigned are to the answers of the Court to the points submitted for the Commonwealth.

The first and second assignments of error are not sustained. They were not seriously pressed upon the argument, and I may pass them without further comment. But there was error in affirming the Commonwealth's first point. In the case of an antecedent threat and a present provocation, it is for the jury to find whether the killing was in pursuance of the previous threat, or was the result of the immediate provocation. The effect of the affirmance of this point was to throw the burden of proof upon the prisoner. It required him to prove a negative; that a previous formed purpose no longer existed. As there is no process by which the operation of the mind can be photographed, this was laying a heavy, if not impossible burden upon the prisoner. Under our statute defining the degrees of murder the presumption against the accused was no higher than that the homicide is murder in the second degree. Commonwealth vs. Drum, 8 P. F. Smith. Whenever it is sought to convict of murder in the first degree, the burden of proof is upon the Commonwealth to show the circumstances necessary to raise the offense above murder of the second degree. Nor can this burden be shifted from the Commonwealth upon the shoulders of the defendant. The learned judge was doubtless misled by the text in Wharton's American Law, page 955, which is substantially in the language of the Commonwealth's point. Many of the text books, as well as authorities outside of the State, are not to be relied upon, by reason of our peculiar division of homicide into murder of the first and second degrees. In Commonwealth vs. Drum, before cited, the present Chief Justice, who tried the case, refers to these distinctions, and the general law of homicide, with great accuracy.

In the Commonwealth's second point, the same idea is repeated, though in a less objectionable form. It was not, perhaps, a technical error to affirm it. Yet unexplained, it may not have been understood by the jury. Upon what evidence may the jury find that the prisoner had abandoned his previous purpose to take the life of the deceased? He cannot prove a negative. The purpose may have been formed years before and long since abandoned. It was, therefore, a question for the jury, upon all the evidence in the case, to determine whether the prisoner killed the deceased in pursuance of his previously formed design to take his life, or whether it was the result of a provocation occurring at the time of the killing.

The law of homicide, excusable on the ground of self-defense, was not correctly stated in the Commonwealth's sixth point, and was therefore an error to affirm it. It is not necessary that a man shall be in actual peril of life, or of great bodily harm, before he may slay his assailant. It is sufficient, if in good faith, he has a reasonable belief, founded upon the facts as they appear to him at the time, that he is in such imminent peril, even though it should afterwards appear that he was mistaken. The law will not hold a man to absolute correctness of judgment under such trying circumstances.

We do not regard this error as cured by the general charge. An obscure answer may be aided in this manner, but not one that is palpably erroneous. Beside, the general charge upon this branch of the case is not consistent with itself, and may have left the jury in doubt as to what the law really was.

The judgment of the Oyer and Terminer is reversed, a venire facias de novo awarded, and the record remitted to said Court for another trial."

Hunter vs. Commonwealth. Error to the Quarter Session of Allegheny county. Opinion by Paxson. As the case is one of considerable importance as deciding a point in law in regard to which there has been a difference of opinion, we give the opinion in full:

"The plaintiff in error was indicted for a felonious assault (on Dr. Floyd). The jury convicted him of assault. A motion in arrest of judgment was made, which was overruled by the Court below and judgment entered on the verdict. This is assigned here for error.

The record presents the single question, whether upon an indictment charging a felony, the jury may acquit of the felony and convict of the constituent misdemeanor? We are in no doubt as to the rule of common law. It was long held in England that upon an indictment for a felony there could be no conviction for the minor offense of misdemeanor. The reason of the rule was that persons indicted for misdemeanor were entitled to certain advantages at the trial, such as the right to make a defense by counsel, to have a copy of the indictment and a special jury—privileges not accorded to those indicted for a felony. It is apprehended these reasons no longer exist in England—at least not to the extent they did formerly, for by the statute * * * (Lord Denman's act) the rule itself has been abolished, and now upon a bill charging a felony, a conviction may be had for a constituent misdemeanor. It is clear that the reason of the rule has no application in this State. On the contrary, the advantages, if any, upon the trial, are in favor of those cahrged with a felony. By the merciful provisions of our criminal law, the higher and more atrocious the crime, the more numerous are the safeguards thrown around the accused and the more jealously does the law guard every legal right to which he is entitled.

The rule in other States of this country is by no means uniform (Mr. Whartou in his work on criminal law places Pennsylvania among the States in which the old common law rule prevails, and cites the Commonwealth vs. Guble, 7 S. & L., 433, in support of his text.) The case referred to says Judge Paxson, is an authority only for what it decides. No such a question was before the Court. Chief Justice Tilghman, who delivered the opinion of the Court, recognized the common law rule referred to, but it was assumed, not argued. Another case ruled by Judge Black, Judge Paxson says, is not authority to the extent claimed for it, and can hardly be said to support the rule, while on the other hand there are authorities to support a conviction for a misdemeanor upon an indictment charging a felony.) These cases are referred to.] * * * If the indictment here had contained a count charging assault merely, it is clear from the above authorities that there would have been no misjoinder. It is equally clear that a conviction for the felony would have been good. So would a conviction upon the bill generally. If then there could have been a conviction upon the count for assault, why not without? We have seen that the rule against the non-joinder of the two offenses no longer exists. What is there left to support the position that upon a charge of felony a conviction cannot be had for its constituent misdemeanor? In this case the defendant was indicted for an assault with intent to kill. He was convicted of an assault. This was the very offense with which he was charged. The intent to kill is a mere qualification or aggravation of the crime. The fact to be proved by the Commonwealth was the assault. It was for the jury to say whether, under all the circumstances attending the assault, the nature of the attack and the means employed, it was accompanied with an intent to take life. Upon the question of the intent, the jury have found in favor of the defendant, but convicted of assault. How has he been injured by this? The greater crime necessarily involved the lesser. It was divisible. The lesser could exist without the greater and the jury have so found. There was no surprise upon the defendant. The fact of the assault was the very issue before the jury, and he enjoyed every legal right incident to the trial that he would have been entitled to, if he had been indicted for the misdemeanor. Nor is he left in any peril hereafter. The plea of atrefois convict would be a sufficient answer to a subsequent indictment for the misdemeanor."

The objection raised by defendant's counsel that the conviction should not be sustained because the defendant was deprived of the benefit of the act which permits defendants charged with misdemeanors (forgery and perjury excepted) to testify in their own behalf, is plausible, the Judge says, but unsound. The act in question may be regarded as an indulgence extended to defendants in certain cases. It was not intended to embarrass or delay the administration of criminal justice, nor to make two trials necessary when one sufficed before. It is not to be extended to cases not enumerated in the act. It has no application when a party is charged with a felony. * * * "Had the indictment included a count for the assault, it cannot be pretended that the defendent would have been a competent witness, and if convicted of the misdemeanor only, it would not have been sufficient ground to arrest the judgment * * * * The tendency of modern legislation and of judicial decision is to disregard mere technicalities, and to regard the substance rather than the form * * * * In view of all these facts and of the authorities cited, we have no hesitation in declaring that the old common law rule, that upon an indictment for a felony there can be no conviction for a misdemeanor, no longer exists in Pennsylvania.

The judgment of the Court of Quarter Sessions is affirmed, and it is now ordered here, that James A. Hunter, the plaintiff in error, be remanded to the custody of the keeper of the Allegheny county Work House there to be confined according to law and the sentence of the Court below, for the residue of the term to which he was sentenced, and which had not expired on the 12th day of February, 1875, when the writ of error in this case was lodged in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions; and that the record be remitted to the said Court with instructions to carry this order into effect."

Court Brevities.

THE proceedings of the Supreme Court, yesterday, were of unusual interest, as will be seen by reference to the report. Philip Murray is awarded a new trial; the proceedings in the case of Dr. Hunter, convicted of misdemeanor on an indictment for felony, affirmed, and the finding of the lower court affirmed in the McCarthy-Walters case.

IN the Common Pleas Court No. 1, on Saturday, an order was issued directing the Jury Commissioners to proceed with due diligence to select, in the manner provided by law, from the qualified voters of the county at large, thirty-four hundred sober, intelligent and judicious persons to serve as jurors in the several Courts of said county during the ensuing year.

IN the Common Pleas Court No. 1, yesterday, Stephen Noonan commenced suit in trespass against John McGinniss for alleged malicious prosecution. The declaration sets forth that the defendant appeared before Alderman Thompson on July 14th and falsely and maliciously swore out a warrant for the arrest of the plaintiff. He was taken and held until he gave bond for his appearance before the Court of Quarter Sessions. Amount of damages claimed not stated.

HON. JAMES H. GRAHAM and son will to-day present a bill in equity to the Supreme Court, on behalf of Wm. M. McClure, Wm. J. Graham and W. W. Snyder, a committee appointed to represent the stockholders, against the People's Freight Railway Company to restrain the latter from collecting unpaid subscription to stock, in Perry county. The Company is formed out of the Bendersville Railway Company, the Sherman's Valley Railway Company, and the Bendersville Extension Company, and the idea is to extend its line from a point in Bucks county, to Georgetown, in Beaver county, the capital being $100,000,000, with 2,000,000 shares at fifty dollars each. The injunction will be asked on the ground that the stockholders were fraudulently induced to subscribe, and that the company having been illegally formed out of three others, its charter is void.

IT is understood that the "Two Orphans" injunction case is not yet concluded. The attorneys for the McKee Rankin troupe have sent to England to obtain affidavits, which are expected here by the close of the present week, and which, if obtained, may put the case in a new light. They expect to prove that a gentleman named Neville purchased the original manuscript from the authors, and hired Oxenford to translate it for him. They also expect to prove that the Oxenford translation is sold without restriction in the book stores of London. Upon obtaining the documents the case will be reopened in court, and if the injunction is dissolved proceedings will be commenced on the bond of Messrs. Jarrett and Palmer for damages in the sum of $10,000. If successful they will also go into the United States circuit court and ask for the right to play the "Two Orphans" anywhere in the United States.

IN the Common Pleas Court No. 1, on Saturday, Frederick Piper commenced suit against Antonia Ewing and Sheriff Hare to recover $1,000 damages for an alleged false sale of property. The plaintiff claims that on the first day of March, 1874, he purchased a horse, wagon and harness. On the 9th of July last Sheriff Hare levied on the turnout and "with force and arms broke and entered into a certain premises of the said plaintiff, then situate in said county, and with like force and arms took and carried away certain goods and chattels of said plaintiff, and there being, to wit: a horse, wagon and harness of the value of $500." The plaintiff asserts that these goods were levied upon and seized as the property of Philip Piper, while in fact the plaintiff (Frederick Piper) was the sole owner of them. The plaintiff further assets that Ewing was aware of this fact before he made his purchase, and therefore he brings suit against him and the Sheriff in damages as above stated.

"THE NAKED TRUTH."

Victoria Woodhull at the Academy of Music Last Night.

The second lecture of Mrs. Victoria Woodhull last night, at the Academy of Music, did not attract an audience near as large as the one drawn by her Sunday evening discourse. Victoria referred to the fact before the close of her lecture and said that she had hoped that every man who was present would have had the courage to bring his wife and daughter and place them beside him so that they might hear the truth, for it was upon the "Naked Truth" that she lectured, and there were doubtless many among her auditors who would strongly combat an assertion that she adhered throughout her talk to the naked truth. Every one who ever heard Mrs. Woodhull must concede her ability, her grace of language and motion, and the ease and facility with which she clothes her thoughts in words, even if they cannot acquiesce in her ideas. She is a very earnest talker, and to those unaccustomed to go to the fount of reason and logic her arguments may appear forcible and plausible enough, but to a man or woman given to thought and to one who is familiar with the great law of cause and effect her reasoning is sadly lacking in solidity and stability. She is what the versatile George Francis Train would term an "incoherent speaker." People have often heard the word "radical" applied to persons. Well, Victoria Woodhull is one in the fullest and most comprehensive sense of the word. She is not a "liberal," but a "radical." She wants the existing social, political, religious and legal forms and systems uprooted and thrown to the winds, and demands the institution of a new order of things based upon her own peculiar ideas. She ridicules and satirizes courts of justice. She abuses the newspapers because they won't publish her lectures or the substance of them. One statement made by her last night was excessively funny, and its humorous character was evidently appreciated by the audience. She said that when Tennie and herself were imprisoned in New York it shook the country from center to circumference, and the people arose in all the grandeur and majesty of popular might and demanded their release. The writer was alive and healthy at that period of his country's history but certainly remembers no internal convulsion nor an uprising of the masses. Mrs. Woodhull evidently understands the estimation in which she is held by the general public, because, in her lecture she referred to a number of expressions used by a woman who had been requested by her husband to accompany him to hear Mrs. Woodhull, but had refused with horror, saying: "She is a bad woman," "she is a bad woman and I know it." She adverted to Henry Ward Beecher a few times, saying once that if he had the bravery to preach the ideas of social and moral life that he really entertains, he would preach to empty pews. If Mrs. Woodhull conceives Mr. Beecher's ideas in that respect to be in sympathy with her own, she paid a high compliment to the congregation of Plymouth Church.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

A Man Run Over at Roseburg Sunday Evening.

Coroner McCallin held an inquest last evening on the body of a man who was run over and killed by the cars at Roseburg Station, Sunday evening. The facts elicited were as follows: The man's name was Wm. Wymer. He was a fireman on the towboat "Fearless," and resided at Lowell, Ohio. He started on Sunday to come to the city to go to work on the boat, and got off the train at Roseburg station. By some accident in getting off the train, about 10 o'clock Sunday evening, he was caught and thrown under the wheels, his legs being run over and both terribly crushed and mangled. About an hour afterward Mr. Wm. Gibbs, who resides near the station, heard the man groaning, and went down to the railroad to see what was the matter. He there found the man, and procuring assistance had him carried to his (Gibbs') house. Surgical assistance was obtained immediately by Mr. Gibbs, but as it was found that the man's legs were crushed clear up to his body, amputation was out of the question. Mr. Wymer lingered until 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when he died. A son-in-law of Mr. Wymer, named Wm. H. Conley, resides on Ohio street, Allegheny, who took charge of the body.

Great credit is due Mr. Gibbs for his attention to the wounded man, he having, as stated, taken him to his house, procured surgical attention, and remained with him attending to his wants until he died.

Lippincott's Magazine.

The sixteenth volume of this excellent monthly closes with the December number, which has just come to hand. "Up the Thames," the second of a series on this interesting river, by Edward C. Bruce, opens handsomely illustrated. The principal places that are described in this part are, Richmond and its surroundings, Twickenham, and Wimbledon Common. "Sahara" is the suggestive title of another illustrated article, which at the present time is of peculiar interest, from the fact that the different projects now on foot for facilitating communication across the Great Desert render this description of the oases and sandy wastes, and of the people that inhabit them, very seasonable. Frances Anne Kemble adds greatly to the interest of this number by her "Notes on the characters of Queen Katharine and Cardinal Wolsey in Shakespeare's Henry VIII." "The Comrade" is concluded in this number. "Carmela" is an exquisite poem by Emma Lazarus. "Betrayal" is also a fine specimen of an American poem by Sidney Lanier, to whom we are indebted for several very fine productions. "Medical Education in the United States," by H. C. Wood, Jr., M. D., is an able article on a subject of deepest importance to the whole community. "Risks" is a charming story by G. P. Lathrop. The next to call our attention is a short but interesting paper by Sarah B. Wister, entitled "Ballads and Bards of the Ukraine." "The Atonement of Leam Dundas," the serial of this Magazine, increases in interest. "A Night of Adventures," by Fitzedward Hall, is a very interesting descriptive article on travel in India. In this number are several other articles and stories, only two of which we will here mention, "Miss Willard's Two Rings," by Sherwood Bonner, and Miss Lucy H. Hooper's "Housekeeping in Paris," the former a very striking story, the latter, as the title suggests, another of those pleasant, gossipy articles from the pen of that graceful American correspondent, Mrs. Hooper. "Our Monthly Gossip" contains a variety of short articles of interest, while the "Literature of the Day" embraces the usual reviews of new books. The January number will begin the new volume of this valuable Magazine.

A Famous Medical Institution.

(From the Chicago Times.)

"The name of Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has become as familiar to the people all over the country as 'household words.' His wonderful remedies, his pamphlets and books, and his large medical experience, have brought him into prominence and given him a solid reputation. The Times, in the present issue, presents a whole-page communication from Dr. Pierce, and our readers may gain from it some idea of the vast proportions of his business and the merits of his medicines. He has at Buffalo a mammoth establishment, appropriately named 'The World's Dispensary,' where patients are treated, and the remedies compounded. Here nearly a hundred persons are employed in the several departments, and a corps of able and skilled physicians stand ready to alleviate the sufferings of humanity by the most approved methods. These physicians are in frequent consultation with Dr. Pierce, and their combined experience is brought to bear on the successful treatment of obstinate cases. The Doctor is a man of large medical experience, and his extensive knowledge of materia medica has been acknowledged by presentations of degrees from two of the first Medical Colleges in the land."

If you would patronize Medicines, scientifically prepared by a skilled Physician and Chemist, use Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. Golden Medical Discovery is nutritious, tonic, alterative, and blood-cleansing, and an unequaled Cough Remedy; Pleasant Purgative Pellets, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, constitute an agreeable and reliable physic; Favorite Prescription, a remedy for debilitated females; Extract of Smart-Weed, a magical Remedy for Pain, Bowel Complaints, and an unequaled Liniment for both human and horse-flesh; while his Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is known the world over as the greatest specific for Catarrh and "Cold in the head" ever given to the public. They are sold by druggists.

REDUCING REPRESENTATION.

Mr. KERR, from the special committee appointed to consider the matter of a reduction in the number of members of Select Council, presented for the approval of Council the following act of Assembly:

AN ACT—Regulating the representation and election of members of Select Council of the several wards of the city or cities of the second class of this Commonwealth, and authorizing the Councils of such cities to change the boundary lines, and to increase or diminish the number of the wards thereof.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c., that each of the wards of any city of the second class in this Commonwealth shall be entitled to but one member of the Select Council of said city, who shall have the qualifications required by the charter and constituent acts of said city. The provisions of this section shall take effect on the 1st day of January, 1877; and that the members of said Councils of said city or cities of the second class, elected in 1875, for the term of two years, from January 1, 1876, shall hold office only until the first Monday of April, 1877; and those elected in February, 1876, for the term of two years, from January, 1877, shall not take their seats in said Councils, but said seats shall remain vacant and their said term of office abolished. That there shall be an election for members of Select Council of said city or cities held on the third Tuesday of February, 1877, and annually thereafter; that the persons elected on the third Tuesday of February, 1877, to the Select Council of said city or cities from the odd numbered wards thereof, shall hold their offices for the term of one year from the first Monday of April, 1877, and those elected from even numbered wards shall hold their offices for the term of two years from the first Monday of April, 1877, and the successors of all of said Select Councilmen shall be elected for the term of two years, except when they are elected to fill a vacancy in any such term, when they shall be elected to fill such vacancy for the unexpired term.

SECTION 2. That the Councils of any of said cities of the second class shall hereafter have authority to at any time change the boundary lines, and to increase or diminish the number of such city by division or consolidation of said wards or otherwise.

Mr. SHIPTON moved that the Act be approved and that the members of the committee be instructed to furnish our Legislative representatives with copies of it, and recommend its passage to the Legislature.

Mr. SAWYER moved that it be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. AIKEN urged the approval of the bill on the ground that Select Council is too cumbersome and unwieldy.

Mr. SAWYER opposed it because the large number of members brings them nearer the people, and he deemed that a feature to be upheld instead of abolished.

The motion to indefinitely postpone was lost by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Atkinson, Buckley, Dannels, Darlington, Fahnestock, Goldthorpe, Hayden, Hunter, Keebler, Kernan, Kestner, Meyer, Murray, McCombs, McClurg, Rogers, Sawyer, Vierheller—18.

Nays—Messrs. Ahl, Ahlborn, Aiken, Arnholt, Barckley, Breed, Brown, Carr, Chislett, Finley, Froehlich, Harrison, Herron, Jeremy, Kerr, Liddell, Littell, Metzgar, Musgrave, McCandless, O'Neil, Scheck, Schmidt, Shipton, Taylor, Weldon, and Gross—27.

The bill was then made the special order of business for three o'clock at the next regular meeting upon the last Monday of this month.

A Representative Establishment.

One of the representative establishments of Pittsburgh is that of Messrs. Riter & Conley, Nos. 55 and 56 Water street. We say representative because it fitly represents the best elements of the enterprise and skill which go to work up the manufacturing interests of the city. The present firm are successors to Mr. James M. Riter, whose manufactory had achieved a wide fame, not only here, but elsewhere, where superior workmanship was desired. They are builders of oil tanks, blast furnaces, Siemen furnaces, rolling mill stacks, iron roofing, and all kinds of sheet iron work and copper work of every description. Their manufactory is a very extensive one, and it is supplied with the very latest improvements in machinery. The firm take a pride in keeping up their very high reputation, and hence they have not only supplied themselves with the best machinery, but they employ none but picked mechanics, and use no material that is not A No. 1. By that means they never fail to make a perfect job, and everything they do will stand the test of the most critical inspection or practical use. Specimens of their work are scattered all over the city, throughout the oil regions and elsewhere, and every one is a testimonial of the superiority of the work turned out of the establishment of Riter & Conley. We know of no firm in the city who is more justly entitled to praise, or are in any degree more reliable. We would advise any of our readers who want good work done in their line, to make their contracts with this firm.

E. church, Allegheny, on that evening. Among those who will take part, in addition to others already mentioned, are Prof. W. H. Slack, Prof. C. B. Carr, Miss Carrie Smith, Mrs. Walkinshaw, Dr. J. Guy McCandless, Mr. A. D. Sharpe, Prof. Alexander, Herr Carl Retter, and others of high local repute. The programme embraces sacred, sentimental and humorous selections. It will be a rare musical entertainment. Reserved seats can be secured at Mellor & Hoene's.

EXPOSITIONAL.

Clearing Out—The Exhibitors Hard at Work.

Yesterday the exhibitors at the Exposition were hard at work removing their "traps." The work was carried on vigorously, and by last evening the building was pretty fairly deserted. It will require another day, however, to get all the things removed. The boilers, shafting, &c., in Power Hall are to remain, but the machinery exhibited is to be taken away.

Yesterday morning the police were paid off and discharged. The building is left, however, under the care of Chief Hague and Assistant Chief Kennedy. The building is insured. It will be used during the winter season for any large gathering, for which plenty of space is required.

The Exposition hop is the next thing in order. It will take place on December 2, and promises to be a fine affair in a terpsichorean and dress parade way.

There has as yet been no official statement made as to receipts and expenditures, but the figures as given will not fall far out of the way.

Mayor Phillip's Mission Sunday School is to be started in the building within a week or two. Arrangements are now being made for it. It will occupy the Press Headquarters.

The success of the first Exposition has demonstrated that the enterprise has taken a deep hold on popular sentiment, and that future Expositions will be even more successful, because the people have realized their attractiveness and the great profit this one has been to the city.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

Livingston & Co., iron founders and manufacturers of builders' hardware, have been awarded three first premiums on their specialties at the Industrial Exposition. First, for best assortment of common castings; second, for best display of ornamental castings; and last, but not least, first premium for the best hand Corn Sheller—well known throughout the land as the "Home Corn Sheller." This machine attracted the especial attention of all, and particularly the farmers, for its simplicity and efficiency in doing its work. The advantages claimed for the "Home" are, that it removes the corn clean from the cob; it does not break the kernel; it adapts itself to large or small ears, and does its work well; it is simple in construction, and not liable to get out of order, and will be sold on its merits. Every machine warranted, and if on trial it is not perfectly satisfactory, it may be returned and the money refunded.

Its usefulness and popularity among the people is attested by orders coming from nearly all parts of the world. Over fifty cases have been shipped to Europe and many more to South America, while the foreign trade has rapidly increased during the past year.

Wherever the Home has been introduced it has met with unqualified approval, and the award of the First Premium to it at the Exposition was but a proper tribute to an invention which is the perfection of simplicity and effectiveness. Farmers who want a good corn sheller, and a cheap one, too, should address Livingston & Co., Pittsburgh.

A MAGNIFICENT VEHICLE.

Visitors to the Exposition will remember the magnificent French Landeau which was exhibited by Messrs. Mertz & Riddle, of Ravenna, Ohio. It was the finest vehicle in the carriage line exhibited at the Exposition, and was really a superb specimen of workmanship—fit for a king to ride in. The Landeau attracted special attention from liverymen, and there was some rivalry as to who should get it, but Mr. John McNulty, of No. 212 Fifth avenue, carried off the prize. It has been removed to his establishment and put into the general stock for hire.

Mr. McNulty keeps the finest assortment of vehicles for hire of any liveryman in the city, and his patrons have the advantage of the best of carriages, at prices which would be charged them for much inferior articles elsewhere. The purchase of this magnificent Landeau is but another evidence of his enterprise, and of his determination to keep his stock up to the highest standard. Parties who need anything in that line for concerts, lectures, theatres, or funerals, or pleasure riding, will get the most for their money by patronizing Mr. McNulty, No. 212 Fifth avenue.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Mrs. Rachael Macauley, who made her first appearance in this city last night as Kate Peyton in the play of "Griffith Gaunt," is said to be a great favorite in the Western and Southern country. She is a very refined, graceful and accomplished actress, though not a powerful one, and we doubt not that she will soon ingratiate herself in public favor here and make her subsequent visits welcome ones. Her support last night was in one or two respects not good. The Griffith of Mr. Waverly would stand improvement. Mr. Owen as Tom Leicester, Miss Hastings as Mercy Vint, and Miss Weidman as Caroline Ryder were pleasing impersonations. The Lancashire fair was to the audience a gratifying feature of the play, judging from the applause it elicited, and the portraits of John McKee and the O'Dwyer were prominent features of the fair, and easily recognizable.

This evening Mrs. Macauley reappears in "Griffith Gaunt."

The Titiens' Concerts.

We regret very much to state that the concerts announced for this week by Mlle. Titiens will not take place. M. Parodi, agent of Max. Strakosch, yesterday received a telegram from that gentleman at New York requesting him to withdraw all public notices as Titiens was ill. There was every indication that the concerts would have been highly successful. The sale of seats only commenced yesterday morning and at the time the telegram was received over $900 worth of tickets had been sold. We sincerely trust that the visit of Titiens will not be long postponed.

The Library Lectures.

Rev. J. Hyatt Smith, of Brooklyn, lectures this evening at Library Hall on "From New York to Jerusalem." A well known journal, speaking of this lecture, says: In a most amusing, and, at times, pathetic strain of wit and eloquence, he took his auditors across the ocean to Ireland, thence to Scotland, and thence to England. Passing to France, he stopped a little at Paris, and then journeyed successively to Switzerland, Rome, Genoa and Egypt. His wit and mirth sparkled and glowed incessantly, keeping his audience convulsed with laughter, except when occasionally for two or three minutes he assumed a serious tone. His description of the preaching of Spurgeon was an instance of the latter kind—a most touching description of that eloquent divine. The lecture was instructive, as well as entertaining, giving, with his coruscations of wit, vivid glimpses of character, scenery, and art.

The Frohsinn Society.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of this society will be celebrated by a concert at Library Hall next Monday night.

Musical and Dramatic.

EDWIN BOOTH appears at the Walnut Street Theatre, November 22d.

THE new National Opera House in London, it is thought, will cost £250,000 sterling.

JOSEPH K. EMMET, "Our Fritz," is starring in England, and soon sails for Australia.

LYDIA THOMPSON is recovering from her illness, and will appear at the Globe Theatre, London, on the 22d inst.

THE production of Lord Byron's "Sardanapalus" at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, as a spectacle is said to be a complete success.

"THE LOTOS FLOWER," a new drama, will be produced at the Park Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., this evening, Miss Rose Wood, a charming young actress, and Mr. Lewis Morrison, an admirable actor, assuming the principal roles.

Wall Paper.

The wall papers exhibited at the Exposition by W. P. Marshall were from the celebrated manufactory of Messrs. Gillon & Fils, Paris, who received the gold medal at the late exposition in Vienna. They were the finest and most costly of any wall decorations ever brought to this city or country. Mr. Marshall imports the most advanced styles, and is prepared to aid housekeepers in fitting up and beautifying their homes.

$20,000 of the Allegheny Park Bonds Disposed Of.

The policy of redemption prevails in Allegheny, and yesterday it was manifested in an especial manner. These Park bonds are considered among gilt-edged securities, as are all of the bonds given by Allegheny City.

A Well Merited Success.

As contrasted with fortunate charlatanism, well-merited success is less frequent than it ought to be. Puffery, blatant assertion and coined recommendations too often, for instance, give an ephemeral popularity to medicinal compounds intrinsically worthless at the expense of really deserving remedies, and to the grievous detriment of the sick. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic alterative which has achieved one of the best merited and most signal successes of the nineteenth century, has never relied upon such methods of manufacturing a reputation, nor has the competition of counterfeit tonics ever affected its reputation in the slightest degree. That it is the best remedy for malaria, and the surest safeguard against it; that it eradicates dyspepsia, billiousness, constipation, disorders of the kidneys and bladder, and the various causes which produce weakness, are implicit and well-founded beliefs with the great body of the American people.
